Biting Winds, Heavy Rain Bring Tachens Withdrawal To Halt

Delay Will Set Back Evacuation Schedule

TAIPEI, Formosa, Friday, Feb. 11 (P)—Biting 35-mile winds and rain squalls forced a complete halt shortly before last midnight in the withdrawal of Nationalist troops and guerrillas from the Tachens Islands, fleet dispatches said today.

The delay set back the timetable for the evacuation, which had been expected to end late tonight or tomorrow. Tons of ammunition and supplies must be removed.

Some soldiers and guerrillas began landing on Formosa yesterday.

Most of the military personnel came from Pishan, 32 miles south-west of the Tachens, and the two Yu Shan islands, 35 miles north-east of the Tachens.

Chase Watches Operation

Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, whose U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group trained and equipped the regulars on the Tachens, went up yesterday with U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin to watch the operation.

The Tachens still shook to explosions as the Nationalists blew up tunnels and gun positions in the scorched earth strategy, said AP correspondent Jim Becker in a dispatch from the islands.

Rear Adm. Lorenzo S. Sabin Jr., commanding the actual withdrawal, told Becker the Communists had given "no indication they will interfere and frankly I do not see why they should."

40,000 Being Removed

Sabin estimated the operation could be wound up by Saturday, weather permitting. Some Navy officers thought the work could be finished sooner.

More than 40,000 civilians and soldiers are being removed from the Tachens and surrounding islands.

A total of 1,512 civilians, guerrillas and military personnel arrived yesterday in Formosa from Pishan Island. The 710 guerrillas were dressed and equipped the same as the regulars.

General Warns Against Atomic "Complacency"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—Maj. Gen. James Gavin said today Americans should not "assume we have a patent" on new weapons, that it would be "complete folly" to think the Russians are lagging.

Gavin, Army chief of operations, agreed at a news conference with the Moscow statement of Marshal Ivan Konev that the Soviets have "all kinds of weapons."

The American general did not comment on Konev's further statement that the Russian weapons are ready for "the complete defeat" of imperialists, meaning the United States.

Gavin said the American Army is basing its training plans on the possibility of an atomic war, or a nonatomic war. He said one is as likely as the other. He indicated that the era when hydrogen weapons might appear on the battlefield might begin within five or fifteen years.

Burglars Steal Alarm

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 10 (P)—Thieves climbed through a rear door of the Reams Coal Co. here last night and stole just one thing—the burglar alarm.

Physicians Report Smoking May Damage Heart Muscle

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (P)—The Journal of the American Medical Assn. today said "there seems now to be definite evidence" that smoking can damage the heart muscle.

An editorial set forth:

"There seems now to be definite evidence that smoking, even though it may not directly affect the coronary arteries, can have a damaging effect on the myocardium (muscular part of the wall of the heart)."

"No patient with coronary disease should incur the added risk to his heart imposed by smoking without first discussing thoroughly the problem with his physician."

The same issue of the Journal carries two articles on the effects of cigarettes on the heart.

Three physicians, who collaborated in one report, found that changes in the heart rate and blood

Chairman Offers "Proof" AEC Not Neglecting Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—Four large crates stuffed with classified documents were hauled before the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee today as evidence that the Atomic Energy Commission is occupied with something else besides the Dixon-Yates contract.

The boxes were produced by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, who said they contained all the work of the commission since Jan. 1 which had nothing to do with the controversial private power agreement.

Strauss said he thought the legislators would like to see physical evidence of volume of work, since so much had been made of the time the AEC allegedly has spent on the Dixon-Yates contract. Three AEC security agents stood guard over the exhibits.

Murray's Testimony Hit

AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray, a Truman appointee, has charged that the commission has spent so much time on the Dixon-Yates affair in recent months that its primary tasks in the military and industrial fields of atomic energy have been hampered.

During his appearance before the committee, Strauss denied he had misled its members about Dixon-Yates developments and said testimony by Murray had given them "a false impression."

Temper grew short during the session. Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) called one line of questioning "positively giggling," while Sen. Pastore (D-R.I.) exclaimed that Chairman Anderson (D-NM) was asking questions to no purpose.

Mixed Reception

Strauss' dramatic production of the crates got a mixed reception from committee members.

As the first box, filled with brown envelopes, appeared, Anderson asked:

"What is this display, please? Who is responsible for that?"

Strauss said he was, as one crate followed another, Anderson remarked:

"Come right in. We'll get some trucks for you."

Pastore observed, "I don't believe in this kind of physical proof." But Rep. Cole (R-N.Y.), former chairman of the committee said, "I'd like to express a word of approval."

Eisenhower's Economic Plan Hit By Reuther

CIO Leader Declares Administration Looks To Past, Not Forward

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—President Eisenhower's economic planning was sharply criticized today by CIO President Walter Reuther. He said the administration is "looking through a rear-view mirror" when it should be looking forward to the days of automatic factories and offices.

"I firmly believe that the administration is selling the American people short," Reuther said, "that its petty, half-hearted economic programs are based on an hypnotic preoccupation with statistical indexes of the long-run past, rather than with the tremendous strides toward economic abundance that present American technology and ingenuity are currently making possible."

Others Echo Reuther

Joining reuther in lambasting administration policies before the Senate-House Economic Committee were John A. Baker of the National Farmers Union and Harry See of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Baker said the income of the average U. S. farm family dropped from about $200 a month in 1952 to $150 a month last year and "under the Eisenhower administration's sliding scale farm program a further drop to only $100 a month would be allowed."

Rail Employment Off

See testified that in the last 18 months employment on Class 1 railroads has declined 17 per cent, representing a loss of 212,000 jobs.

All three witnesses contended the administration seemed overly concerned about a threat of inflation rather than with expanding the economy to provide job opportunities for the growing population.

Rep. Kelly (D-Pa.) commented that the administration is apparently willing to attempt a balanced budget and a noninflationary economy "at the price of misery and distress" in areas of substantial unemployment.

AFL Executive Council Backs Merger Accord

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 10 (P)—AFL union leaders today unanimously approved the AFL-CIO merger agreement and the pact appeared well on its way to being put into effect.

The endorsement by the AFL Executive Council was only one in a series of necessary ratifying actions but AFL President George Meany said he was confident they will be accomplished.

Told that some business leaders have expressed fear that welding the AFL and CIO into a single 15-million-member organization would tend to create a labor monopoly, Meany expressed disagreement.

"We represent only a minority of workers in the country," Meany said. "There are more than 60 million workers and we've organized less than 25 per cent of them."

Meany said millions of workers probably never could be organized because their work doesn't lend itself to unionism. He mentioned individual farmers or hired hands as examples, but said that mass farming operations could be organized.

He said that the "white collar" or office worker should be given the same opportunity as other workers to improve their working conditions through unions.

He pointed the .22 caliber automatic at her brunette hair and forced her to drive north on Rt. 1, main highway between New York and Philadelphia.

Constance, who had received a driver's permit only yesterday, obeyed. Her teen-aged friends notified police.

Hudson County police set up a roadblock with a prowler car on the big elevated skyway.

Moments later, the car with the terrified girl and Pasco plowed into the police car at a 70-mile speed, flipped over and burst into flames.

Vice President, Speaker Pay Hike Bill Advances

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—A $5,000-a-year raise for the vice president and speaker of the House, who now get $40,000, was voted today by the House Judiciary Committee.

The proposed salary increase for the two presiding officers of Congress was sent to the House for scheduled action next Wednesday along with recommendations for upping the pay of congressmen by $10,000, and federal judges by $7,500 to $10,000 a year.

One-Pound Baby Dies

MONTREAL, Feb. 10 (P)—A one-pound baby girl, described as no bigger than an adult's hand, died today in her seventh day in an incubator.

Four Children Die In Wheeling Fire

As grim-faced Fire Chief William McFadden follows, Fireman Joe Duffy carries the body of one of four children of the James Stewart family who were burned to death in Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday when a fire destroyed their home. Mrs. Stewart suffered first degree burns. The father was at work and another son in school at the time of the blaze.

Girl, Kidnaper Meet Flaming Death When Auto Hits Roadblock

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 10 (P)—A teen-age novice motorist, driving a $115 jalopy 70 miles per hour at gunpoint, crashed into a police roadblock early today and perished in flames with her gun-crazed kidnaper.

Constance Cobb, 17, abducted by a fleeing ex-convict from a two-couple lovers lane date in Milltown, drove a wobbly 30-mile course through populous North Jersey with a pistol pointed at her head. She was trailed part of the way by police, helpless to intervene.

Kidnaper Toted Four Guns

Her kidnaper, Leonard J. Pasco, 25, of New Brunswick, listed as a 6-year police "problem," was carrying four guns as the getaway auto hit the roadblock on the Pulaski Skyway, an elevated highway between Newark and Jersey City.

As police tried in vain to reach into the blazing auto, Constance screamed "I'm burning up. . . I'm burning up. . ."

The spectacular chase began in Milltown late last night. Pasco, picked up by a patrolman on suspicion, pulled a car and disarmed his captor.

Friends Notify Police

Pasco, flourishing a gun, came upon the car with the two young couples. He forced all out except Miss Cobb.

He pointed the .22 caliber automatic at her brunette hair and forced her to drive north on Rt. 1, main highway between New York and Philadelphia.

Constance, who had received a driver's permit only yesterday, obeyed. Her teen-aged friends notified police.

Hudson County police set up a roadblock with a prowler car on the big elevated skyway.

Moments later, the car with the terrified girl and Pasco plowed into the police car at a 70-mile speed, flipped over and burst into flames.

Girl, 4, And Baby Sister Die In Fire

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Feb. 10 (P)—A 4-year-old girl and the baby sister she apparently tried to shield with her body perished together today as a fire raced through their bungalow home in nearby Bradley Gardens.

Their young parents, John Torlish, 28, and his wife, Louisa, 23, made frantic and repeated efforts to save them from the swirling flames, but were driven back each time.

Victims of the morning fire, which police said was caused by an exploding kerosene heater, were Louise Torlish, and her 3-month-old sister, Ann.

U. S. Rubber Profits Drop

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (P)—United States Rubber Co. today reported 1954 profits declined to $27,958,902 equal to $4.29 a common share from $32,732,300 or $5.19 a share in 1953. Sales dropped to $781,574,240 from $838,451,068 in 1953.

Churchill Favors Big 4 Talks After Paris Pacts OK'd

LONDON, Feb. 10 (P)—Prime Minister Churchill said today he still favors top-level Big Four talks with the Russians, but made clear to the new Kremlin rulers that Britain intends to push ahead with rearming West Germany first.

The 80-year-old statesman spoke in the House of Commons as the British ambassador in Moscow, Sir William Hayter, carried out secret negotiations aimed at a Formosa cease-fire.

Utility To Build First Commercial Atom Power Plant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—H. R. Searing, president of Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, said today his firm is ready to go ahead with the nation's first commercial atomic power plant built wholly with private financing.

Searing, testified before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee at hearings on peacetime uses of atomic energy.

Consolidated Edison is the first utility to tell the committee it is ready to go ahead with atomic power on its own since the 1954 Atomic Energy Act authorized atomic licenses for private industry.

Searing, whose firm is the big electric utility in the New York metropolitan area, said that he expected it would apply to the Atomic Energy Commission for a license before April 1.

He said a manufacturer has designed a nuclear reactor which Consolidated Edison believes would be "reasonably competitive with conventional plants in our area," and that this encouraged his company to go ahead.

Flood Maroons 30,000

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Feb. 10 (P)—Thirty thousand Indonesians were marooned today in 60 villages of central Sumatra in the worst floods in that area within memory.

Better Than Even Chance

In the Assembly lobbies, the immediate reaction to the Pflimlin candidacy was friendly. He was given a better than even chance of rallying enough support to be voted in.

Pflimlin has been mentioned frequently lately as a possibility for the premiership. At first his membership in the MRP, which competes with the Socialist party for leftist votes, was believed to be too great a handicap. By evening, the atmosphere had cleared and his chances were considered much better.

Alpine Avalanches Isolate Two Resorts

PARIS, Feb. 10 (P)—A violent blizzard in the wake of rain and unseasonably mild weather has caused new Alpine avalanches, isolating some 4,500 persons in at least two fashionable French ski resorts on the Italian border.

The resorts, Val d'Isere and Alpe d'Huez, have been cut off since early yesterday. They are well stocked with food, however, and authorities voiced no immediate fears for the vacationers.

Hotly-Debated Bill Approved By House Unit

Presidential Power To Cut Tariffs Voted By Committee, 20-5

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (P)—The House Ways and Means Committee today rolled up a surprising 20-5 vote for President Eisenhower's program to boost free world trade by gradually lowering U.S. tariffs.

House Democratic leaders promptly announced they would bring the hotly debated proposal to the House floor next Thursday or Friday. That would bring the first all-out floor fight of this session.

Amendments Rejected

The committee turned down a long series of trade restricting amendments, offered chiefly by Republicans. It stuck closely to Eisenhower's original blueprint, which would:

1. Extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for three more years past June 12. Under this act the President may negotiate lower tariffs on foreign goods coming into the United States, in exchange for trade concessions to American products abroad.
2. Specifically give the President power, in negotiating trade agreements, to cut tariffs in any of three ways. He could cut 5 per cent below present levels each year for three years; he could cut tariff rates now above 50 per cent of the value of goods down to that level; or on goods not now coming into the United States in appreciable amounts, the President could cut tariffs to 50 per cent of the rates on Jan. 1, 1945.

GOP Vote Surprising

Committee Democrats voted 14-1 for the bill, sponsored by Chairman Cooper (D-Tenn.). Republicans, surprisingly, voted 6-4 for it. The opponents on the showdown were Republican Reps. Reed (N.Y.), Simpson (Pa.), Jenkins (Ohio), Mason (Ill.), and Democratic Rep. Forand (R-I).

The Republican opposition got bigger votes for amendments which would have restricted the trade program, but failed on all of them. One Republican member said some of his colleagues felt that after making a fight for their favorite restrictions, they didn't want to be opposing the administration in the final showdown.

Pierre Pflimlin Strives To Form French Cabinet

PARIS, Feb. 10 (P)—Pierre Pflimlin, a 48-year-old Strasbourg lawyer and Cabinet veteran who backs West German rearmament, agreed tonight to try to form a new French government.

A member of the Popular Republican Movement (MRP), he took up the task at the request of President Rene Coty after Independent Republican Antoine Pinay gave up in the face of strong opposition in the National Assembly.

The Assembly, irritated and divided over many issues, brought on the crisis last Saturday by toppling Pierre Mendes-France's government, the nation's 20th since its liberation in 1944.

Pflimlin told President Coty he would sound out political parties in the Assembly, then return with an estimate on his chances of succeeding.

He said a manufacturer has designed a nuclear reactor which Consolidated Edison believes would be "reasonably competitive with conventional plants in our area," and that this encouraged his company to go ahead.

Churchill Chided

The Kremlin shakeup was accompanied by a renewed declaration from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that ratification of the Paris accords would doom hopes of fruitful East-West talks.

The tough Molotov speech led some Laborites to proclaim Churchill lost his chance for Big Four talks with the ouster of Georgi Malenkov as Premier.

Laborite W. N. Warbey chided Churchill along that line today, declaring:

"By dithering for nearly two years (Churchill) has now lost his opportunity for talking with Mr. Malenkov. Is he now going to dither another two years or will he do something before it is too late to talk to Prime Minister Bulganin?"

Birthdays

birthday confusion just got to be too much," said his daughter, Mrs. John Kobus. "He had had celebrates his 108th birthday without what he refers to as 'a lot of hullabaloo.' He was born Feb. 11, 1847."

The chipper old soldier will make only one public appearance, going to the city hall in the afternoon for dedication of a base that will hold a bust of him presented to the city last August.

Eighteen members of his family will attend a birthday dinner at his home, followed by an open house for about 30 or 40 close friends and neighbors.

Members of his family said a week ago that newsmen would not be able to have their usual birthday interviews this year. "The

Pickets Leave Three Stores At Pittsburgh

Unions Adopt Divide-And-Conquer Strategy

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 10 (AP)—Sign-carrying pickets disappeared today from three of five big strike-harassed department stores for the first time in nearly 15 months as 12 AFL unions adopted divide-and-conquer strategy.

Store managers said removal of the pickets did not affect the day's business. Many — but not all — workers reporting for the first time since Nov. 27, 1953, were told to return home and await call.

All of the stores have remained open throughout the dispute. Many of the clerks and office help never joined in the walkout.

The stores have refused to discuss resulting losses but unofficial sources say the figures will run into the millions.

A union strategy committee representing the 12 AFL locals ordered picket lines lifted at Rosenbaum's, Frank & Seder and Horne's.

At the same time the union committee called for increased picket lines at Kaufmann's and Gimbels—two of the biggest downtown department stores.

Store managers called it an effort to split them. Union officials did not deny this and one said, "Call it what you want."

There was no immediate estimate how many striking employees were assigned to duty, but none of the AFL Teamsters' 700-odd members were put to work. They operate delivery trucks for three of the stores and an agency which handles delivery for Rosenbaum's and Frank & Seder.

Thomas L. Fagen, president of the Teamsters, said he thinks Horne's and the delivery service

Ike Bags Two Georgia Quail

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower rode off aboard a mule-drawn hunting roadster for a round of quail shooting 20 minutes after arriving today at the plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Dusk was closing in as the President moved out into the fields, and he remarked with a broad smile: "If we don't find 'em in about 15 minutes, it'll be a bad day."

At the end of an hour's shooting the word was that Eisenhower and Humphrey each had brought down two quail. Then they called it quits until tomorrow.

The President and Humphrey flew from Washington to Spence Air Base at Moultrie, Ga., 35 miles northeast of Thomasville. They and their wives and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, made the trip to Moultrie in 2 hours and 34 minutes, arriving there at 3:49 p.m.

Then the party drove to Humphrey's 600-acre plantation estate, called Milestone.

Matusow Says Cohn Helped Set False Testimony

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—Harvey Matusow said in federal court today that Roy M. Cohn worked with him in preparing false testimony Matusow gave for the government in a trial of 12 secondary Communists.

Matusow testified at a hearing on a motion by the convicted Communists for a new trial.

This was the first time Matusow told in open court the story he first made public in an affidavit Jan. 31.

He elaborated by telling how he said he first met Cohn, then an assistant United States attorney, in a parked automobile Dec. 17, 1951, and of later making a round of night clubs with him.

Matusow said the false testimony revolved around a book, "Law of the Soviet State," by the late Andrei Vishinsky, former Soviet foreign minister.

"Cohn said that because of a section of this book it would be important to connect the book with the defendants," Matusow told the retrial hearing.

Matusow said he told Cohn that Alexander Trachtenberg one of the defendants, had asked him casually about how the book was selling. He said that several days later Cohn "pointed to a passage in it and told me that that passage was important in proving the government's case."

The witness said he told Cohn that he had not discussed the passage with Trachtenberg but that in later sessions with Cohn "we developed the answer which I gave in my testimony, tying Trachtenberg to the passage."

Many Frightened As Flare Dropped By Plane Explodes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—A flare dropped from an unidentified airplane exploded with a window-rattling roar in nearby Virginia today and frightened hundreds of people, many of whom at first thought it was a bomb.

The flare plummeted into an open area about 100 yards from a big housing development in populous Falls Church. It tore a 4 by 2½ foot hole in the earth and touched off a 15-acre field fire which firemen battled for four hours before extinguishing it.

The blast prompted hundreds of calls to newspapers, police and broadcasting stations.

Bolling Air Force Base and Civil Aeronautics Administration officials launched an investigation to determine the plane involved in the incident.

President Asks Supplemental Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for supplemental appropriations totalling $913,508,767. The largest item, $395,720,000, would be for the Veterans Administration.

The money would be in addition to appropriations already made for the government fiscal year ending June 30. The President had noted in his budget message last month that most of the money would be needed.

The bulk of the funds would be for items which by law must be paid, but for which total spending cannot be budgeted precisely, such as veterans pensions and benefits.

Of the amount asked for the VA, 240 million dollars would go for compensation, pensions and other allowances which Congress increased by about 5 per cent this fiscal year. Veterans' readjustment benefits, including GI education payments, would take 155 million because of "an unanticipated sharp increase in enrollment and rates of payment."

Duff Predicts Ike Will Run In 1956

GLEN COVE, N.Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of the first on the 1952 "I Like Ike" bandwagon, predicted tonight President Eisenhower will seek a second term in the White House from a "sense of devotion to duty."

Duff made the prediction in a speech prepared for a Lincoln Day rally sponsored by the Oyster Bay Republican Club, the home organization of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall. The GOP National Committee had spotlighted the occasion with a special announcement that Hall would introduce the senator.

The committee, in a statement at Washington, pointed out that the Oyster Bay Republican Club was founded under the guidance of Theodore Roosevelt. It said the occasion of tonight's speech "takes on added historical significance because Duff, an old 'Bull Moose', was a Progressive party presidential elector in 1912 when T. R. made his famous insurgent presidential race."

Atomic Blast Indicated

TOKYO, Friday, Feb. 11 (AP)—The Tokyo Central Meteorological Bureau said today its stations in western and central Japan recorded sudden atmospheric pressure fluctuations usually caused by a tremendous explosion of an atomic or H-bomb or by a violent volcano eruption.

It added that at present it has insufficient data to track down where and how far from Japan the explosion took place or what caused it.

Bills Would End W. Va. 'Pop' Tax, Hike Sales Levy

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 10 (AP)—Legislation was introduced by the Senate Finance Committee today to repeal the soft drink tax and raise the 2 per cent consumers' sales tax to 3 per cent.

The committee-sponsored bills followed a long conference of Senate Democratic leaders with Gov. William C. Marland.

After the Senate session, newsmen were called into the Senate president's office for a conference to explain the unexpected measures. No extra copies of the bills were available for newsmen.

A committee spokesman said that 3½ million dollars of the expected new revenue from the higher consumers' sales tax would be earmarked for the West Virginia University Medical School.

The four-year medical, dental and nursing center at Morgantown are presently financed from the exclusive revenues of a one-cent per bottle tax imposed upon the soft drink industry by the 1951 Legislature.

The consumers' sales tax at the present 2 per cent rate accounts for about 24 to 26 million dollars annually in state revenues. It is the state's second most important source of income. The gross sales tax on business brings in from 38 to 40 million dollars a year.

The House devoted part of its session today to passing, with one vote to spare, a resolution to submit a constitutional amendment for permitting sheriffs to serve two terms instead of one.

Father Kills Two Tots In Cribs, Shoots Self

STREAMSTOWN, Alta., Feb. 10 (AP)—Two young children were found shot dead in their cribs today, and their father, a telegraph agent who was wounded, was placed under police guard in a hospital at nearby Lloydminster. Police said it was double murder and attempted suicide.

Chester Matson, about 30, was reported in critical condition, suffering .22-calibre bullet wounds in his chest and head.

Police said Matson's wife left town after a quarrel two days ago and that the agent is believed to have become despondent.

New Drug Proves Effective In Blocking Hallucinations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—A newly developed drug was credited today with clearing up delusions in some mental cases, including schizophrenia and alcoholic DTs.

Dr. Howard D. Fabing of Cincinnati, told about it in an article in Science, official weekly of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Fabing reported that the substance appears to have practical treatment value in certain mental ills. He said it also was able to block the action of another drug which can artificially produce symptoms akin to mental derangement in some normal people.

The antihallucinations drug, trade-named Frenquel, was produced by the William S. Merrell

Panama Probers Ask Guizado's Indictment

PANAMA, Feb. 10 (AP)—A special investigating committee today asked the indictment of ex-President Jose Ramon Guizado on charges of plotting the assassination of President Jose Antonio Remon.

Guizado, who moved up from vice president after Remon was cut down by machine gun blasts Jan. 2 was suspended from office Jan. 15. Impeachment proceedings were started against him by the National Assembly on the basis of accusations made by Remon's confessed slayer, Ruben Miro.

The commission, named by the National Assembly, could have returned a recommendation of indictment or acquittal. Under Assembly rules 48 hours must elapse after the report is submitted before it can be discussed.

Scientist Says:

Single H-Bomb Could Coat Region Size Of Maryland With Deadly Radioactivity

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—An atomic scientist said today that 28 well placed H-bomb hits on the United States could "atomize" with deadly radioactive fall-out a vast region containing two-thirds of the nation's industrial centers and 50 million inhabitants.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp said a single hydrogen bomb, exploded close to the ground, could coat an area the size of Maryland (about 10,000 square miles) with a potential death mantle of radioactivity.

Lapp said nuclear discoveries have raced far ahead of civil defense planning. He said a "thorough house cleaning" of the Civil Defense establishment is needed and added:

"It has become mandatory that the government begin construction of an extensive system of survival shelters on the periphery of every large city."

Lapp, a developer of the first atomic bomb, declared that people in "the shadow of the atomic cloud" can't run away from it.

He said the only thing a person can do is go underground—in a shelter, basement or fox-hole—and wait a day or two for the radioactivity to die down.

Writing in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, Lapp said an H-bomb, exploded close to the ground, would create a sun-hot fireball three to four miles wide and devastating a large area.

The heat-blast of the explosion would suck up or dislodge millions of tons of earth. Most debris would fall back to earth promptly but the lighter particles, made radioactive by the explosion, would drift off in a deadly dust cloud. As the cloud swept downwind there would be a continuous fall-out of radioactive dust to settle on the earth's surface.

He compared a field covered with radioactive dust to a field full of glowing light bulbs.

If a man stood erect in the center of a field, some light from all the bulbs or some "illumination" of radioactive rays from all the dust would fall on him. Underground, he would be safe.

Lapp said if a person tried to flee on foot from an atomic dust cloud less than a day old, he would receive a dose of radiation twice the amount necessary to kill him.

However, if this same man spent two days in a simple basement shelter, he could then walk from the contaminated area without absorbing too much radiation. This is because the radioactivity of atomic dust drops off sharply with the passage of time.

Lapp said a structure like a barn would provide second-class protection. Radioactive dust falling on the roof still would irradiate the individual. However, they would be farther away and the distance would substitute for solid shielding.

He said Civil Defense policies of dispersal and evacuation of cities are still sound, despite the dangers of radioactive dust, but must be "coupled to a realistic shelter program."

SUN OF CANADA REDUCES COST OF INSURANCE

$26 million in dividends to policyholders in 1955

New dividend scales which, for the sixth consecutive year, will considerably reduce the cost of life insurance for the policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, are announced by George W. Bourke, President, in his Annual Review of the Company's business for 1954. Approximately $26 million will be paid out in dividends in the coming year, an increase of more than $2 million over 1954. New life insurance sold in 1954 amounted to nearly $700 million, an increase of $120 million over the previous year. This new business figure is the largest reported for the year by any Canadian company, much of it having been sold in the United States where Sun Life has 36% of its business in force, and branches in major cities from coast to coast. Included in the new business figure was $239 million of group insurance, representing an increase of $68 million over the 1953 figure. Total Sun Life insurance in force now exceeds $6 billion.

Other important figures of the Report include $41,365,000 paid to beneficiaries of deceased policyholders and $92,985,000 paid to living policyholders and annuitants. This $134 million paid in 1954 brings the total paid by the Company since its organization in 1865 to $2,866 million.

MORTGAGE LOANS UP

Mr. Bourke declared that the contribution by life insurance to new housing in the United States and Canada looms larger every year. During 1954, Sun Life mortgage loans increased by more than any other type of investment, and by the end of the year the Company had $323,000,000 invested in mortgages, mostly in individual homes.

The Sun Life of Canada, with 93% of its total business in force in the United States, Canada and Great Britain, holds 46% of its invested assets in the United States.

Mr. Bourke, in his Report, expressed optimism for Canada's continued prosperity. "A year ago I told you that I looked forward to 1954 with every confidence," he declared. "That confidence proved to be justified and is in no way lessened for 1955."

A copy of Sun Life's complete 1954 Annual Report to Policyholders, including the President's review of the year, is being sent to each policyholder, or may be obtained from Paul E. Drury, C.L.U., Branch Manager, Keyser Bldg., Baltimore 2, Md.

Some Legislators Concerned Over Cost Of Auto Driving Instruction In Schools

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 10 (AP)—Concern over the cost of making automobile driving instruction available to every school student at least 15 years old was voiced today by some members of a legislative committee.

Otherwise, the proposal was endorsed heartily before the House Ways and Means Committee. It is proposed to at least help pay for the course by raising the cost of learners' driving permits from $1 to $4. It's estimated this would provide about half a million dollars.

If every eligible student took advantage of such a course it would cost more than a million dollars a year.

The estimated cost doesn't include the automobiles which are loaned free by dealers. The training is being given in only 87 high schools and there are 224 in the state. If the program reached the maximum it would require 270 cars.

"That's a lot of automobiles," observed Cavendish Darrell of the Automobile Trade Assn. "The dealers ought to be consulted first."

He conceded that the dealers might not desire to furnish that many cars free. In that event, the State would have to buy them.

Richard Hartman of the Automobile Club of Maryland said one of the advantages will be a saving of 10 per cent on insurance rates by students taking the course.

Washington I. Cleveland, another auto club representative, told the committee surveys have shown that student instruction "reduces accidents at least in half."

The Maryland State Grange, Congress of PTA, and the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs gave their approval to the program.

So did State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen, Jr. who termed it "very worthwhile and a legitimate part of education."

Dairymen Win Round In Milk Shipment Fight

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 10 (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee gave a favorable report today to bills which would remove Public Service Commission control over shipment of milk into Baltimore.

More than 500 Maryland dairy farmers, who arrived in 16 special buses from the Eastern Shore and points as far west as Hagerstown, had packed the House chamber and its galleries to support the legislation at a public hearing earlier in the day.

The two bills—sponsored by Dels. Brewster (D-Balto County), Hess (D-Harford) and Brown (D-Howard)—would end the franchise system under which 27 carriers haul all milk into Baltimore at rates set by the PSC.

Spokesmen for the Maryland Co-operative Milk Producers claimed these rates are 5 to 20 cents per hundredweight higher than for milk shipped over the same distances to Washington. The PSC has no control over shipments of milk to any place other than Baltimore.

"We want this crazy-quilt pattern of rates and routes changed," Harry T. Gross, counsel for the co-operative, told the committee. "This is where it started (30 years ago) and this is where it should be terminated."

Gross said the dairy farmer is caught in a price squeeze and needs the benefit of competition in an open market in getting his milk transported at a lower rate. Eventually, said Gross, savings might be passed on to retailers and consumers. He argued that other than commodities are not subject to such regulation.

The only opponent was Ben Rosenstock, Frederick attorney who represented the Boyer Transportation Co., one of 27 carriers which haul into Baltimore.

He conceded his firm hauls milk into Washington from the Frederick Valley for 30 cents per hundredweight while charging 35 cents for Baltimore shipments.

The reason for this discrepancy, said Rosenstock, is that the Washington Health Department permits milk to be held overnight before being brought in while the Baltimore department does not, and that this results in more expensive operation.

He said the system of routes laid down by the PSC enable the small dairy farmers on back country roads to get their milk in on the same carriers as larger dairies. They might have difficulty if the system which has been in effect for 30 years was scrapped, he said.

Rosenstock contended that some of the directors of the Maryland Co-op were behind the bills and not the dairy farmers themselves.

However, when Committee Chairman Simpkins (D-Somerset) called for a show of hands of those present who favored passing the bill, all but two or three raised theirs.

President Wilson A. Heaps of the Maryland Farm Bureau said his organization was in favor of the bills to end the franchise system and Herbert R. Hoopes, master of the State Grange, also endorsed them.

Official Accused Of Duck Hunting Violation Retires

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Tidewater Fisheries Commission today announced the retirement of Capt. Amos Creighton, assistant commissioner, who was charged with violating duck hunting laws Dec. 31.

John P. Tawes, acting chairman, said he received notice of Creighton's retirement from Russell S. Davis, who directed that it become effective on completion of Creighton's accumulated leave. Tawes said this would be about 34 days.

His case had been referred to Davis for action after he and Arthur H. Brice, chairman of the commission, were arrested on charges of shooting more ducks than the limit and using bait for duck blinds. They forfeited collateral by not appearing to answer the charges.

Martin Declares Americans Owe Too Much Money

HAGERSTOWN, Md. Feb. 10 (AP)—The American people owe too much money, Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) said tonight.

Public and private debt has risen above 600 billion dollars, he said in an address prepared for a Lincoln Day dinner, and is "a serious threat to the safety and security of the nation."

"Uncontrolled debt, rising higher and higher year after year, places a crushing burden on the economic structure of our country and points the way to financial collapse," Martin went on.

"Never before in the history of the world have people owed so much as we owe today. At the top of the list is the federal debt of 278 billion dollars; an increase of 20 billion since the end of World War II.

"The debts of state and local government have increased 16 per cent in one year alone, reaching a total of 38 billion dollars on June 30, 1954."

Martin said people aren't worrying about it because they take the position that "we are prosperous—"

Carroll School Board Defends Bible Practice

WESTMINSTER, MD. Feb. 10 (AP)—The Carroll County Board of Education said it hopes to allow the Gideon Society to continue to distribute New Testaments to school children.

Court action has been sought to block the distribution.

The board said it wants to continue the practice if possible.

It said, that under the plan "the Testaments which included the Book of Psalms and Proverbs, were distributed only to those pupils who desired them. The distribution was limited to one grade in elementary schools and involved no expense to the Board of Education."

John A. O'Donnell of Finksburg, filed an injunction petition in Circuit Court Jan. 26 charging the school board with "active participation in the affairs of a religious organization" in violation of the 1st and 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

Chief Judges James E. Boylan Jr. ordered board members to show why the plea to ban the distribution should not be granted. The board has until Feb. 17 to answer.

The board met last Tuesday. Later it said that in connection with the complaint it has "directed that a reply be made by the Board's attorney, Pierce Bowles, urging that the injunction be denied so that distribution of the Testaments may be continued in the schools of the county."

The 1st and 14th Amendments deal with the separation of the church and state and the guarantee against abridgment of the rights of citizens.

O'Donnell contended the board is cooperating with a "religious organization or group" in distributing, or causing or permitting to be distributed to students "copies of religious scripture sectarian in nature and susceptible of many interpretations . . ."

Health Of Separated Twin Reported 'Fine'

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 (AP)—Rodney Brodie, survivor of a historic operation which separated him from his Siamese twin brother in 1952, was reported in "fine condition" today after a month-long checkup.

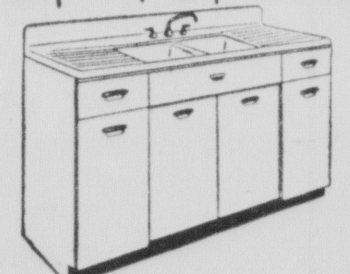

The boy, now 3½, left the University of Illinois Research Hospital accompanied by his father, Royt, to return to his home in Ferris, Ill.

Doctors said Rodney's health is "fine." They said he is able to walk without assistance and carry on a conversation.

Surgeons separated Rodney and his head-joined twin, Roger, on Dec. 17, 1952. Roger died 34 days after the operation.

The operation left Rodney with an open skull which doctors hope to cover with a hard substance at some future date.

Fur Worker To Defense Boss

Zhukov, Wartime Friend Of Eisenhower, Entering New Stage Of Brilliant Career

By TOM WHITNEY
(AP Foreign Staff)

Georgi Konstantinovich Zhukov, a man for whom President Eisenhower has expressed respect and warm feelings, is entering a new stage of a brilliant career. He has risen from fur-worker to minister of defense.

He shoulders his new responsibilities at a time when the government of Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin is emphasizing war preparedness for the Soviet Union.

Most foreigners with experience in the Soviet Union consider Marshal Zhukov to be the most popular Soviet citizen. He comes to his new job at a time when apparently the political influence of the Soviet army has risen—in the presence of disagreements within the Communist leadership—to a high point. Zhukov personifies this influence.

Marshal Zhukov is from peasant stock. He was born 59 years ago in a village about 60 miles outside Moscow. This village of Osadko-Zavodsky has a bust of him, erected there only after Stalin's death removed the shadow of jealousy and suspicion which the capricious dictator had cast over Zhukov's postwar career.

When Zhukov was 11 his parents moved to Moscow. They could not afford to give him much schooling. He worked in a fur finishing shop sewing and draping sable skins for Moscow's upper classes.

World War I put him in the army of the Czar. He was detailed to the 10th regiment of the Novgorod Dragoons and soon became a noncommissioned officer. He became a hero. He led sorties behind the German lines and won four high military decorations for bravery.

When the Revolution came, Zhukov joined the Red army and the Communist party. After that war he chose to stay in the army. He entered a Soviet military academy but did not finish it. He studied for a time later on in a cavalry officers' school but did not finish that either. However at this time academic attainments were not those most valued by the Soviet leadership in its army officers. It was more important that they have working class origin and owe everything to the new Communist regime. Zhukov suited this formula well and he advanced in officer ranks. He worked hard at being a good Communist.

Zhukov's big chance for advancement came when the Stalin purge eliminated most top-ranking members of the officer corps in 1937. Men like Zhukov who survived received rapid promotions.

Zhukov sprang into national prominence in the Soviet Union for the first time before World War II. On the plains of the Soviet satellite state of Outer Mongolia in 1939 he commanded Soviet forces charged with repulsing large Japanese forces which had been sent to feel out the Russian defenses. He gave the Japanese a licking which they did not quickly forget.

Zhukov played a key role in the Soviet command during the Finnish War in 1939-40. He won the title of army general in June, 1940. In February, 1941, he was named chief of the general staff of the Soviet army and deputy commissar (minister) of defense. In the same month he was elected a candidate member of the Central Committee of the Communist party. Zhukov was chief of staff when war struck in June, 1941.

He has been given much of the credit for the most famous operations of the Soviet army during the war—the defense of Moscow, the liberation of Stalingrad and later of Leningrad, the capture of Berlin. Certainly he played a key role both in planning and execution of Soviet war strategy. He started the war as chief of staff but he soon was put in direct command on crucial fronts.

When the war ended in Europe in April, 1945, it was Zhukov who signed the armistice for the U.S.S.R. in Berlin. At the victory parade in Moscow in June, 1945, it was Zhukov who spoke.

It was from this period at the end of the war that the acquaintance of Eisenhower and Zhukov dated. They dealt with each other directly as allied commanders in Germany. They came to like and admire each other.

The Soviet government on Zhukov's recommendation invited Eisenhower to Moscow in August, 1945, and Zhukov acted as his host. Eisenhower in this period said: "To no man do the united nations owe a greater debt than to Marshal Zhukov." Zhukov had warm words for Eisenhower, saying the American belonged with the immortal great of all times.

In October, 1945, Zhukov was scheduled to visit the United States. But at the last minute he backed out because of "illness." Some thought perhaps it was Stalin who had intervened.

For a time Zhukov was a deputy minister of Soviet armed forces, but soon he disappeared from Moscow. He had been sent to command the Odessa military district. Later Stalin sent him to command the Northern Urals military district. During Stalin's lifetime he never received another long-term post in Moscow.

Only when Stalin died was Zhukov brought back in a hurry—to bolster the new government as a first deputy minister of defense, one of two men in this position. In July, 1953, Zhukov was made a full member of the Central Committee of the Communist party, replacing the arrested Police Chief Lavrenty Beria.

Zhukov is many things: He's from the peasants and understands them; he's a Communist who owes his advance to the Communist regime; he's a career army officer who has devoted his life to making the Soviet army a more effective fighting machine. More than anything else, perhaps, Zhukov is a typical Russian with a strong Russian patriotism.

Time To Launch Fish Husbandry, U.N. Expert Says

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—Now is the time to begin ocean husbandry, says a U.N. expert.

That doesn't mean going out to woo the nearest mermaid. It means wedding science to fisherman's luck and trying to make the oceans produce food on schedule, like a scientific farmer operates his land.

The expert is Dr. Donovan B. Finn, a Canadian fisheries authority, who is director of the Fisheries Division of the Food and Agriculture Organization.

Dr. Finn was one of an international advisory group which met here to plan the U.N.'s conference on conservation of ocean resources in Rome next April.

"There is a great deal to be done to bring order out of chaos in the fishing industry," he says. "The big problem of fish is not other fish, but men. Through international cooperation we hope that we can get these things in order before the ocean's resources are wasted."

Commercial fishing now is in the same stage that land-based food was in up to 3,000 years ago, much later on this continent, Dr. Finn says. Then nomads shot game where they found it, ate wild cereals and berries. After that they began raising crops and finally animal herds for food. They settled down and took up farm husbandry in the process.

Dr. Finn says the world will have to peg out—with international cooperation—closed areas to allow fish life to regenerate. There will have to be legal closed seasons on fish. There will have to be size limits, just as in inland waters in many countries now.

The idea is to make man, now the enemy of fish, abolish wasteful hunting and make fish farms grow again where the return now—as in the North Sea—is at a low profit level.

Delegates to the state conference were elected and a report on the Good Citizenship contest was given at the meeting of Cresap Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held Wednesday at Central YMCA.

Mrs. John A. Findlay presided and during the business session Mrs. Finley Thompson, Miss Mary Brengle and Mrs. Arch Hutcheson were elected delegates to the state conference to be held in the Belvedere Hotel, Baltimore, March 31 and April 1. Mrs. Walter Pierce, Miss Ruth Clauson and Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein were named alternates. Mrs. Findlay and Mrs. John M. Robb, regent and vice regent, will attend as delegates at large.

A committee to alter the by-laws pertaining to raising dues was named. It is composed of Mrs. Hutcheson, Miss Clauson and Mrs. Albert Paye.

Reporting on the Good Citizen contest, sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Thompson announced that the name of the local winner, chosen from a senior girl from each high school, had been forwarded to Baltimore and the state winner will be announced April 1. In each of the competing schools, the senior class was asked to select five girls who will graduate in June, who they think possess to a marked degree four characteristics, dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. From these, two are selected to complete questionnaires and write a story on a colonial statesman she thinks contributed much to "Our American Heritage."

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. William Rankin and everyone said the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Robb led the flag salute and Mrs. Marshall Miller read the president general's message. Routine reports of committees were given.

A group from the Citizenship class of Allegany High School discussed the "Pros and Cons of the Electoral College System." One spoke on the history of the electoral college, another on the past problems of the electoral college and a third on arguments for the electoral college. The other three gave arguments for a direct election. Participating were Margaret Thompson, Ronald Breedlove, Sandra Wagner, Donald Paye, Barbara Granback and Charles Smith. The panel was introduced by Mrs. Paye. It also was announced that the panel is available for programs for any club, and that the views are its own and not those of the class or school. The information was gleaned from interviews with Senator J. Glenn Beall, W. Earle Cobey, William Wilson, Congressman Hyde and former Judge William C. Walsh. A letter also was obtained from Senator Humphrey, who worked on the committee about the college.

The students also expressed the hope of having the college abolished through the efforts of schools throughout the country. They have secured five minutes to present the subject at the Columbia Press Association meeting in March; and space in two of the association's publications.

A tea followed the program, with Mrs. Ralph Van NewKirk, Mrs. Hutcheson and Mrs. Findlay hostesses. An arrangement of Japanese iris and jonquils in a large white antique bowl, and blue candles in matching antique holders centered the table. Others present were Miss Mary Brengle, Mrs. Lichtenstein, Mrs. Florence Nugent, Miss Clauson and Mrs. Marshall Twigg.

The next meeting is to be March 2 at the home of Mrs. Walter Pierce 700 Washington Street, with Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Nugent and Mrs. Lichtenstein hostesses.

Club Plans Mar. 1 Supper

A get-together in the form of a covered dish supper was planned by the Past Councilors Club of Our Flag of Cumberland Council 100, Daughters of America, at the meeting at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Wilks, Virginia Avenue, Tuesday.

It will be in conjunction with the next meeting, March 1, and will be in Junior Order Hall basement at 6 p. m.

Games concluded the evening. Mrs. Lucinda White and Mrs. Hallie Tracy were cohostesses.

Others attending were Mrs. Fae Lee Burner, Mrs. Hazel Hardy, Mrs. Virginia Twigg, Mrs. Sadie Durst, Mrs. Lucetta Emerick, Mrs. LaVerne Morris, Mrs. Edna Swick, Mrs. Anna Twigg, Mrs. Marie Wagner, Mrs. Helen Whetzel, Mrs. Lillian Britt, Mrs. Ada Wilt and Mrs. Ruth Sisk.

Penn 1955 Tours Will Open Apr. 29

The Pennsylvania House and Garden tour, sponsored by the Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, as usual will be held the first weekend in May.

This tour has been planned to combine horticulture, history, antiques and architecture. Homes, famous for gracious living with their collections of rare china, furniture, silver, art and statuary, combined with historical import, are included in the tour. Many of the houses have been lived in continuously from Revolutionary days until today.

Main Line mansions Cobble Court, Black Rock Farm, Breeze-wood, and the homes of Mrs. W. Logan MacCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Madeira IV, Mrs. Axel Jonsson, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fenimore Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Knodel will be open from 10:30 until 5:30, April 29.

April 30 the tour is planned along the Wissahickon to the Whitemarsh Valley and includes the Highlands along the historic Skippack Pike; Pheasant Run, Dawesfield, one of the homes where Washington slept; Forest Hill Lodge and Gypsy Run.

Colonial Philadelphia tour, sponsored by the Junior League of Philadelphia, will be May 1. It includes Gloria Dei (Old Swede's) Church, Christ's Church, St. Peter's Church, St. Joseph's Church, Old St. George's Church, with adjoining collection of Methodist heritage, Old Pine Street Church, Friend's Meeting House; and a group of colonial houses on the banks of the Schuylkill River, known for their fine architecture and furniture. The country houses of the rich in Revolutionary times are Cedar Grove, Mt. Pleasant, Strawberry Mansion, Sweetbriar Mansion, Woodford Mansion and Morris House. The tour also includes Elfreth's Alley, the oldest remaining street in Philadelphia, with small colonial buildings occupied continuously for 200 years, and small gardens.

May 2 the tour is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Washington Memorial Museum of Valley Forge Historical Society, and includes many historic mansion landmarks near Valley Forge never before opened to the public.

Three special tours also are planned. Mrs. J. Norman Henry, the noted plant explorer and hybridizer, will lead two groups of 25 through her garden at Gladwyne. Anne Werstner Wood, author and lecturer, will lead morning and afternoon tours through Mrs. Widener Dixon's garden. For those interested in antiques, Henry P. McIlhenny's home, 19th Century paintings, French Restoration furniture and small city garden will be open.

Comtees in charge were Daria Golden, Hope Golden, Kelly Smith, Randall Mann, Rosalie Mann, Refreshments; William Creek, Beverly Puffinberger, Freda Messersmith and Marlin Whitfield, Games.

PRIZE-WINNER . . . This gay squaw dress, designed and made by Mrs. Grace Norton, of Phoenix, Ariz., won the grand prize in the squaw dress contest at the recent Arizona State Fair. It is made of gray cotton, with trimming of coumbell print, red, white and silver rickrack. Arizona women have discovered a hobby that pays off. It is a craft that is as popular in the west today as patchwork quilts entered in county fairs in the east.

Pearl F. Crawford Becomes Bride Of Thomas F. Stallings

Miss Pearl F. Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Crawford, 734 Maryland Avenue, became the bride of Thomas F. Stallings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stallings, Avirett Avenue, February 8.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the chapel of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, with Rev. Gerhardt A. Wagner officiating.

Miss Marie Crowe was the bride's maid of honor and Mrs. Carl Hildagress was her bridesmaid. Carl Hildagress served as his stepbrother's best man.

The bride was attired in a navy blue silk street-length dress, trimmed in rhinestones. It was fashioned with a V neckline, short sleeves and full skirt. With it she wore a small, light blue velvet hat, and a corsage of red roses completed her costume.

Her maid of honor wore a navy blue suit with light blue hat and a corsage of yellow roses; while her bridesmaid had a pink dress with blue hat and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride attended St. Patrick's Parochial School and is employed at Memorial Hospital.

The bridegroom attended Allegany High School, served in the Navy and is employed at Stacy's Market.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stallings entertained with a reception at their new apartment, 624 Maryland Avenue.

Monthly Socials Are Planned

Cumberland Chapter, Order of DeMolay, formulated plans to inaugurate a program of socials after chapter meetings each month. Plans were discussed at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple. The socials are to begin in March.

James J. Kave, dad of the chapter, introduced the 17 members who received the initiatory and DeMolay degrees last month.

Announcement was made that the chapter's rifle team meets each Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Bowman's Addition fire hall, with Walter Dillinger in charge. Routine business was transacted and announcement made that the next initiation will be held in May.

Over 70 members attended.

Group Urged To Attend Prayer Day

The Women's Society of World Service of Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church was urged to attend the evening service of the World Day of Prayer, which will be held at 7:30 p. m. February 25, in Trinity Methodist Church, Grand Avenue.

Mrs. Hale Bridgers presided at the meeting Tuesday in the church and offered the opening prayer. Reports were given by Mrs. Edna Knotts, Mrs. Thelma Long, Mrs. Susan Clark and Mrs. Ethel Shoemaker. Cards were signed and sent to sick members.

A worship service was conducted by Mrs. Mary Brashears. Her topic was "Mountains To Be Moved." It opened with the singing of "Jesus Calls Us." Scripture readings were given by Mrs. Susan Clark, Mrs. Hilda Snyder, Mrs. Shoemaker, Mrs. Ruth Welsh and Mrs. Edna Knotts. Silent prayer was held with each woman praying for her "deepest need." It was followed by a prayer by the leader and a period of volunteer prayers.

The study book on India was presented by Mrs. Whiting Linaberg. Mrs. Hilda Snyder explained the use of ornaments and dishes which she received from India.

Club Discusses German Composers

The North End Music Club held a discussion on German composers at the meeting, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Robinson, Edgewood Lane, with Mrs. Ernest White directing.

Two new members were welcomed. They are James Hargreaves and Thomas Hargreaves. Each member of the club entertained in turn, by performing in varied ways. Concluding the program refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Columbia Avenue.

Alpha Sigma Alpha Alumnae To Have Speaker March 9

Plans for a speaker at the March meeting and for a social in April were formulated by members of Cumberland Alumnae Chapter, Alpha Sigma Alpha at the meeting of Mrs. James Grosh, LaVale.

Mrs. E. Burnett Van Fossen, interior decorator at Hafer's Furniture Company, Frostburg, is to be the speaker for the next meeting, March 9. She will give the latest trends in interior decorating. The meeting is being held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Reynolds, 615 Louisiana Avenue, at which time food is to be brought for an Easter basket to be given to the Associated Charities.

The April 13 meeting will be a social and will be held at the home of Mrs. James McClure, Salisbury, Pa.

Cookies were brought to the meeting and sent with assorted soft drinks to the County Home for the patients. Members were reminded of the rummage

To Have Demonstration

The Pleasant Grove Homemakers Club will hold at the home of Mrs. P. F. McElfish, February 15, at 7:30, Mrs. Perry Wilson is to be cohostess.

Mrs. William Connor, Mrs. McElfish and Mrs. Calvin Layton, Food and Nutrition committee are to give a demonstration on economy meals with herbs.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(INS)—Those who have yet to read Jim Bishop's brilliant new book "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," Carl Sandburg's condensation of his massive Lincoln study, and Stefan Lorant's down-to-earth and picture-laden "The Life Of Abraham Lincoln" are to be envied. Wonderful experiences await them.

So much has been written about Sandburg's masterpiece that little can be added here to its lustre. For him it must have been a cruelly hard task to condense all those millions of hard-won words to a single volume. But he has this comfort. He has introduced his friend Abraham Lincoln to scores of thousands who might never really have known this unique American.

Lorant, whose work has been put into 50-cent pocketbook size by Signet, came to this country 14 years ago after achieving great success as a magazine editor in Europe. He must have headed immediately for Lincoln's log cabin. He is transfixed by Lincoln's story-telling ability.

When Lincoln was asked what he thought of editorial blasts directed at him by Horace Greeley, he replied, "It reminds me of the big fellow whose little wife beat him over the head without a resistance. When his friends remonstrated the man turned to them and said, 'Let her alone. It don't hurt me and it does her a power of good.'"

John Jay warned Lincoln that General Benjamin Franklin Butler was the only man in the Union Army in whose hands power would be dangerous. "Yes," Lincoln nodded, "but he is like Jim Jett's brother. Jim used to say that his brother was the damndest scoundrel that ever lived, but in the infinite mercy of providence he was also the damndest fool."

On trying to patch up a fight between warring factions of the Republican Party:

"I learned a great many years ago that in a fight between husband and wife, a third party should never get between the woman's skillet and the man's ax-helve."

Jim Bishop started work on his wonderful "Day Lincoln Was Shot" while working as a rewrite man on the New York Daily Mirror. Our desks, I'm proud to say, were only feet removed. That was in the late 1930's. All through the years he filled notebooks, each devoted to a single hour in the last day of Lincoln's life. It was a job that called for infinite patience and research as well as fine scholarship. It is a breath-taking reliving of a tragic day in history, from the moment Lincoln rose to face a corridor of grasping favor-seekers on Good Friday, 1865, until 24 hours later when the terrible news reached Coles County, Illinois, where Lincoln's stepmother, Sarah Bush lived:

"They (the farmers) stood on the doorkill and they told her the tidings and her old leathery face did not change when she said, 'I knowed wher he went away that he would never come back.'"

A lesser craftsman than Bishop could have overdone the great moment of the book. Come now with John Wilkes Booth into the darkened presidential box at Ford's. From the stage below rings this bit of dialogue from "Our American Cousin":

"Wal, I guess I know enough to turn you inside out, you old sock-dologizing old mantrap!" Racing on, Bishop wrote:

"The derringier was behind the President's head between the left ear and the spine. Booth squeezed the trigger and there was a sound as though someone had blown up and broken a heavy paper bag. It came in the midst of laughter, so that some people heard it and some did not. The President did not move. His head inclined toward his chest and he stopped rocking."

Mrs. Lincoln turned at the noise, her round face creased with laughter. . . .

Anyway, don't miss it. On the flyleaf of "The Day Lincoln Was

Legislators Not Too Keen About Raising Own Salary

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP)—Off-hand, a congressman's lot would appear to be a happy one. For he is among the comparatively few persons in the fortunate position of determining his own salary. Yet congressmen never have been too keen about this part of their job. That's been true from the first Congress, when members decided they were worth $6 a day, but only on days when they showed up for work, to the present Congress, which looks to be about ready to hand itself a $7,500 to $10,000 annual raise.

The U. S. Constitution, no less, says: "The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States." That's what Congress is doing right now, trying to ascertain how much it is legally worth.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has ascertained congressmen are worth $22,500, or $7,500 more than they get now. The House Judiciary Committee says the figure ought to be $25,000, or a $10,000 boost.

Next week the House itself will tackle the problem, along with proposals to increase the pay of judges and professional help hired by Congress.

Congress never is comfortable about raising its own pay. What shall it profit a congressman to vote himself a raise if that should miff the voters and he winds up with no job at all?

Those who favor an increase say congressmen have fallen steadily behind since they got their last increase, in 1946. Rep. Victor Wickersham (D) of Mangum, Okla., has said that, on the average, a congressman's expenses are so great the job costs him $5,900 a year.

Well, the problem has been around for a long time. Theoretically, the first Congress met in New York on March 4, 1789. But there was doubt as to whether the new government would amount to much, and it took time to muster a quorum. George Washington wasn't inaugurated until April 30, and not until September did the statesmen finally size up their worth, $6 a day when they worked.

For the times, it wasn't bad. A man could live nicely on $2 a day, leaving proportionately more of a profit than most congressmen have had since. In 1818 the pay went up to $8 a day. In 1856 a congressman finally went on an annual salary, $3,000.

No one thinks much about it, but money often has been a problem for federal officials. Even Washington, whose Mount Vernon estate of 8,251 acres stretched for four miles along the Potomac, often was desperate for cash.

On the day Congress met, March 4, 1789, Washington asked a wealthy Alexandria, Va., resident for a loan of 500 pounds. Washington offered security and 6 per cent interest.

He needed the money, he said, for pressing debts and to pay for the trip to New York so he could become President of the new United States.

The Chinese discovered natural gas as early as 940 A. B., and were piping it through hollow bamboo rods to evaporate brine to produce salt.

Dr. E. E. Church To Speak At Scout Dinner Tomorrow

Dr. E. E. Church, former president of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will speak at the annual appreciation dinner for Cumberland District Scouts and their leaders Saturday at 6: p. m. in St. Mary's Hall, according to Henry Lowery, district chairman.

MUSTEROLE puts SUNNY HEAT on CHEST COLDS

Warming, soothing Musterole gives fast, comforting relief for both acute upper bronchial and localized nasal congestion. Stainless!

Approximately 720 Scouts, leaders and their parents have reserved places for the event.

The Cub appreciation dinner was held last Saturday in St. Mary's Hall with 695 Cubs, leaders and parents attending.

In past years, the Cubs and Scouts held one appreciation dinner, but with the extensive growth of Scouting in Cumberland, the dinner became too large for the hall.

Toastmaster will be Herbert C. Heineman, past Cumberland District chairman. Rev. Maurice Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will give the benediction and Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church will give the invocation.

Larry Cessna, Eagle Scout of Troop 4, will lead the group in the pledge of allegiance; and David Stone, Eagle Scout of Troop 10, will lead in recitation of the Scout Oath.

K. S. McKee, Keyser, council leadership training chairman, will make several awards. William Allee, district commissioner and Brent Coleman, district camping and activities chairman, will also participate.

J. L. Towler, district advancement chairman, will pay recognition to the 24 Scouts who attained during the past year the ranks of Eagle, Life and Star Scouts. Dr. Adam Baer, council president, will pay recognition to the leader.

A movie on Camp Philmont, the national Scout ranch in the West, will be shown.

The dinner will be a covered dish affair with each troop bringing its own food and utensils.

Fire Damages Home In Bowman's Addition

Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company extinguished a fire in a home in that section Tuesday after it had caused $2,000 damage, according to Fire Chief Virgil Mongold.

Chief Mongold said the fire was discovered by neighbors and the firemen had to break into the house owned by Mrs. Madeline Gentry, who was not home at the time.

The fire was confined to a clothes closet and the dining room.

The damage included clothes, flooring and walls in the dining room. The loss was covered by insurance, the chief added.

Lawyers Cite Grounds For Second Trial

Attorneys for David Gilpin of Romney, West Virginia Conservation Commission official who was found guilty of manslaughter Tuesday by a Hampshire County Circuit Court jury, have announced the grounds on which they intend to file for a new trial.

Gilpin's counsel, John C. Ailes and G. K. Kump, said the request will be based on a claim that Judge H. M. Calhoun instructed the jury that West Virginia laws do not allow enforcement officers to fire a gun as a ruse to prevent escape of persons who have committed misdemeanors.

Ailes and Kump claim there is no clear-cut law in the West Virginia Code that governs such an action. The motion must be filed within 15 days, court attaches said.

The case resulted from the death last November of Grover J. Michael, Shanks resident who was shot and killed when he returned to pick up an illegally slain deer on the farm of Lewis Combs. Gilpin told the court that the shooting was accidental when he stumbled with a cocked revolver in his hand after he had first fired a shot over the head of Raymond B. Poland, a companion of the man shot.

The maximum penalty for involuntary manslaughter, court attaches pointed out, is a year imprisonment, a $1,000 fine or both. Judge Calhoun deferred passing sentence after the motion for a new trial was made.

The last case in the criminal term of Hampshire County Circuit Court was completed Wednesday when two men entered a guilty plea to charges of carelessly killing livestock while hunting.

The men, Leonard Hines and Wilbur Whitacre, were claimed to have killed a cow and calf owned by the Doman brothers of Fox Hollow.

Judge Calhoun suspended sentencing the men when Hines presented court a certificate from a veterans hospital showing his need for immediate hospitalization.

Hines was instructed to enter the institution, he and Whitacre were warned to make full restitution to the Doman brothers, and the two then placed on two years probation on condition that do not violate any laws.

Fort Cumberland Resolution Received

A copy of House Resolution No. 13, congratulating the citizens of Cumberland upon the 200th anniversary of the completion of Fort Cumberland has been received by The Cumberland News.

The document adopted by the House of Delegates January 26 was signed by John C. Lubert, Baltimore, speaker of the House, and George W. Owings Jr., chief clerk.

The resolution was adopted unanimously after it was introduced by the Allegany County Delegation.

Marylanders Attend Safety Meeting

A number of Maryland safety leaders were in Philadelphia yesterday to attend a regional meeting of the National Conference of State Safety Co-ordinators.

Plans will be outlined for the 1955 "Slow Down and Live Campaign" which will run throughout the nation from Memorial Day until Labor Day. It is a unified project of the 48 states and other parts of the world and is made possible through state, county and local officials. It is the third year for this campaign, which is aimed at those drivers with the "in a hurry" complex, characterized by excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, following too closely, failing to yield right-of-way and improper passing.

Sound Film Available

The National Conference of Christians and Jews has made available a free sound film on "Brotherhood," according to Rabbi Joseph Schimelman.

The film, he said, will be available during Brotherhood Week, February 20-27, to schools, churches and organizations. Persons interested in scheduling the film should contact Rabbi Schimelman at telephone number 6870.

Equity Suits Filed

A number of equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Eleanor Kathleen Dyche vs. Ralph Leon Dyche, Alma Lee Hiner Adams vs. George Kenneth Adams, Margaret Lillian Roach vs. Robert Lee Roach Sr. and Betty Jane Stevens vs. Robert Lee Stevens.

Student Tours World On Duke's Advice And Gets Married To Boot

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. Feb. 10 (P)—You can blame it all on the Duke of Edinburgh, says Tom Houston—or at least part of it. Houston, 25, was a student at Oxford University when he heard a talk by the duke—husband of Queen Elizabeth II. The duke said any young man worth his salt must do three things:

1. Travel around the world on five pounds (a pound is worth about $2.83).
2. Earn enough on this trip to see enough famous sights to make the trip worthwhile.
3. Have a scholarly paper delivered before a society.

Houston went for the first two and decided to make the deal a bit more challenging. He got married en route.

The London Daily Mail liked the idea and agreed to pay Tom for articles he was to write during his travels. He is to receive the pay when he gets back, however. Houston landed in New York after working his way across as a groom to three horses on an airliner. He picked up some money at dishwashing, clerking in a supermarket, addressing envelopes in a mail-order house and translating for Radio Free Europe. He speaks Russian and Arabic.

From New York he hitchhiked to Toronto where he met a 22-year-old miss from England whom he would identify only as Caroline. They were married this week.

Between them they now have about 80 pounds of luggage and nine pounds of money. That's about $25.

They have no definite plans but figure to be in Chicago sometime next week. From there to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras and then to South America.

Houston said that when he returns to England he probably will write a "very discreet letter to the duke's secretary, or someone," asking him to temper his advice to students.

But he says he wouldn't have missed the trip for anything. Caroline agrees.

Heroine Of Rags To Riches Story Wins Citizenship

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. Feb. 10 (P)—Mrs. Mary Egging, a woman whose name brings up many stories of adversity and good luck in Western Nebraska, is at last a citizen of the United States.

The 65-year-old widow and mother of 10 who fought drouth and dust when adverse conditions were sending many from the parched wheat lands, lived in America for 62 years without knowing she wasn't a citizen.

She found it out last August. An application for a passport to go to France to see a son in service brought out the fact.

Mrs. Egging recalled "I was quite surprised. And I decided to do something about it."

This week in District Court here she did something about it. She took the oath of naturalization.

Mrs. Egging is a native of Austria.

Her story of "rags to riches" goes back to the "Toasted Twenties" when drouth dried the wheat lands in the Gurley, Neb., area. Her husband died while the family fought to make the land lend a living.

But Mrs. Egging wouldn't give up. Always she would say the land must be "good for something besides snakes and rocks."

She was right. Luck landed in her lap in 1949.

Drillers on the Egging land brought in the Mary Egging No. 1, the oil well that opened up the Western Nebraska field.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Air Force Man Hangs From Wing In Icy Weather To Repair Plane

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 10 (P)—An Air Force sergeant hung from the wing of a big C124 airplane over this area in freezing weather to keep the plane from crash-landing with 31 persons aboard, the Air Force disclosed his week.

Fighting zero cold at 4,000 feet, M. Sgt. Floyd A. James, of Cave City, Ark., repaired the ship's landing gear shortly before it landed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The landing gear trouble developed shortly after Maj. Louis W. Baker, of Allentown, Pa., the pilot, had taken off at Ladd Air Force Base, Alaska.

Baker said here when he ordered the tricycle landing gear raised there was a terrific jolt. "It felt like we hit another airplane."

At the time the Alaska temperature was 38 degrees below zero. They decided to continue on to Wright-Patterson, their destination.

Baker and Sgt. James, senior crew chief aboard, crawled out a wing catwalk from where they could see a lock pin was missing from the landing gear.

Consultations by radio brought the decision to wait until they were 40 minutes from Dayton before attempting to replace the pin with a spare.

Sgt. James, without parachute because of wind danger, hung head down from the wing for about 12 minutes while he completed the repair.

His feet were held by M. Sgt. Frank L. Scheer of Marysville, Ind., and T. Sgt. Ralph W. Miller of Madison, W. Va.

Beginnings of gargantuan facts can be traced back to Old Testament times.

Franks, Potato Salad Hit Spot At Teen Party

Next time there's a basketball game, have your teen agers invite the gang in for a buffet lunch. Records, a rolled-up rug, and most important of all, food, are the entertainment requirements.

Teen agers are a casual lot and they appreciate the casual in food. Just so there's plenty of it. Your role in this party is chief chef. Home economist Reba Staggs suggests that a menu easy on you and pleasing to the teen agers would be frankfurters with hot potato salad, pickles, catchup, mustard, strawberry-whipped cream-nut sundaes and hot chocolate.

FRANKFURTERS WITH HOT POTATO SALAD

- 1 pound frankfurters
- 6 medium-sized potatoes
- 1 onion, finely chopped
- Hot Dressing

Cook potatoes in skins and remove skins while hot. Cut potatoes in 1/2-inch cubes. Add onion to potatoes. Make Hot Dressing. Cover frankfurters with hot water and heat slowly but do not boil. Pour dressing over potatoes and onion. Heat salad until liquid is absorbed. Arrange on platter with heated frankfurters. 6 servings.

Hot Dressing

- 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/8 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 teaspoon mustard
  - 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1/2 cup water
  - 1/2 cup vinegar
  - 1 egg, slightly beaten
  - 4 slices bacon, diced
- Combine salt, pepper, mustard and sugar. Add water, vinegar and beaten egg. Cook bacon until lightly brown and combine bacon and drippings with other mixture. Cook slowly until thickened.

Lost Child Gives Police Trouble

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP, N.J., Feb. 10 (P)—A 4-year-old tot wandered away from her home this week. Police had no difficulty finding her but once they did the trouble began.

Susan St. John was found seven blocks from her home after a frantic call from her mother, Mrs. Roland St. John. Capt. Edgar Wilkinson asked the child to get in his radio car.

"No siree," she insisted, "my mommy told me not to get in cars with strangers."

The police captain pointed to his uniform and badge. The girl said no. He argued he would take her to mother. No again. Finally he had neighbors watch the girl while he brought mother to her.

WIFE PRESERVERS

A modern version of the wire-basket food strainer is made of molded plastic. The strainer has two halves each resembling an open basket with one handle, hinged together at the end. Fruit or vegetables to be cleaned are placed in one basket and the other half closed over it. Both handles are then grasped in one hand and the strainer is put in the stream of water from the faucet. After being thoroughly washed, excess water is drained off by gently shaking the strainer.

Sausage Pilaff Has Dual Role In Meal Plans

Sausage-Peanut Pilaff is one of those recipes you'll like to prepare and serve often. For an everyday meal for the family, it's a hearty dish, especially good for these mid-winter days. For company, it has the unusual, delectable blend of the flavors of sausage, peanuts and olives.

Another advantage of this dish, is that it's made with easy-on-the-budget bulk pork sausage. Sausage-Peanut Pilaff
1 pound bulk pork sausage
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup cooked rice
1 can condensed mushroom soup
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped salted peanuts

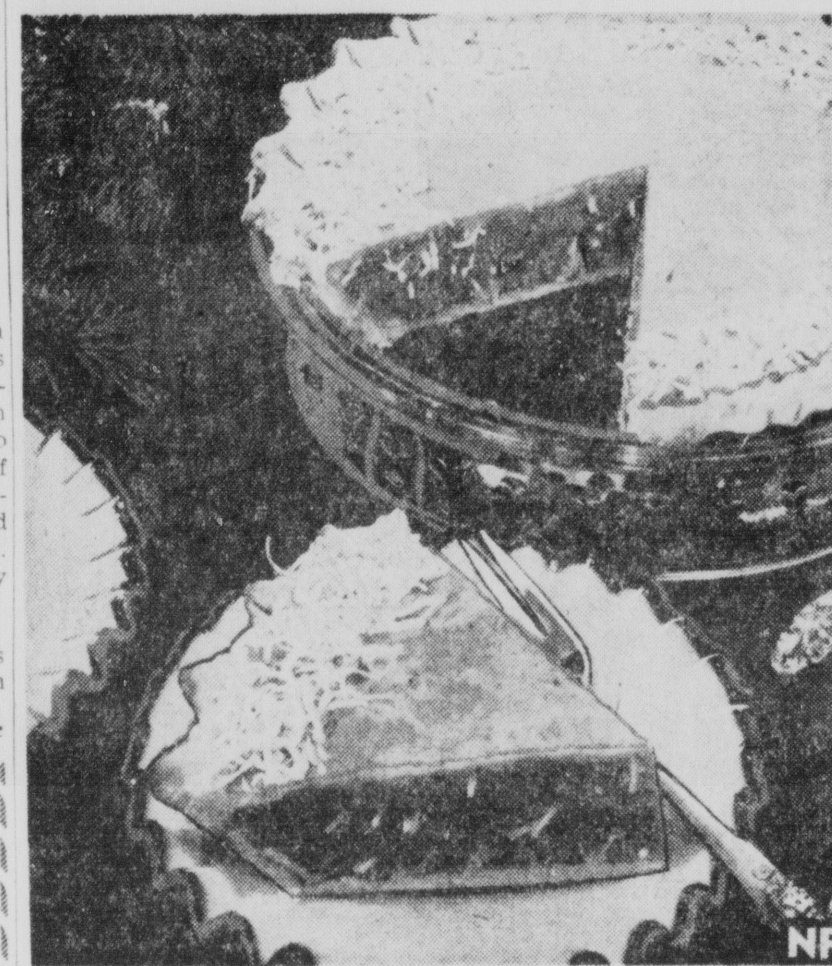

12 stuffed olives, if desired. Brown sausage until crumbly. Add celery and onion and cook 3 minutes. Pour off drippings. Add cooked rice, soup and green pepper. Pour into a 1-quart casserole and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Top with sliced stuffed olives, if desired. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Mint Stuffing For Lamb

Mint is made for lamb. For a mint stuffing, cook 3 tablespoons of chopped celery and 1 1/2 tablespoons of finely minced onion in 3 tablespoons of butter for two minutes. To this add 1/2 cup of mint leaves. Then add an additional 3 tablespoons of butter and 3 cups of fine dry bread crumbs. Use for stuffing or bake separately as dressing.

In Civil War days some stamps used in the South were printed in Confederacy by blockade runners.

Catch-A-Beau Pie

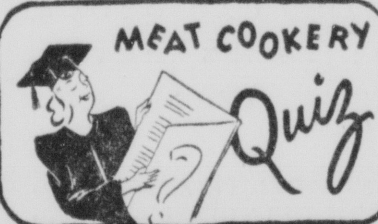

Maybe it's not true that the way to a man's heart is by way of his stomach! Certainly, the man in your life will tell you that it was your beautiful eyes or perhaps your expert skiing that first won his attention—but you can be sure that a demonstration of your culinary ability can go a long way to keep his interest! Here's a pie that fills all the requirements: it's "pretty as a picture" and "good enough to eat"—as the old-time sayings go. You can do the actual preparation in almost the time it takes for "a cat to wink her eye" too! And if you've been married 25 years, you'll be complimented at least, by a request for a second helping!

Delicious Honey Pumpkin Pie

1 1/4 cups shredded coconut
1 1/4 cups mashed cooked pumpkin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup honey
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk, scalded
1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell

Combine 1 cup of the coconut and the remaining ingredients (except pie shell) in order given; mix thoroughly. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425° F.)

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Lamb Cushion Shoulder.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is from the shoulder. It is boned and left flat. Then it is sewed on two sides. One side may be left open for stuffing, then skewered or sewed.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting. It is seasoned inside and outside with salt and pepper. Then it is filled with stuffing and the edges are sewed or skewered together. The meat is placed fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. Water is not added and the pan is not covered. It is roasted in a slow oven (300° F.) until done. About 40 minutes per pound are allowed for roasting.

FOR A DELICIOUS Spaghetti Dinner serve VIMCO SPAGHETTI is one of the most inexpensive foods —makes a delightful change in the dinner menu and enables budgeters to save. Serve Vimco Spaghetti and Tomato Sauce often.

40 minutes. Sprinkle remaining coconut over top of pie and bake 10 minutes longer, or until custard is firm and coconut a delicate brown.

Warm Platters For Meat

Be sure to serve hot meat on warm platters and in warmed dishes. Chill serving plates for meat salads.

Molasses Pancakes

1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup unsulphured molasses
3/4 cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Combine unsulphured molasses and milk. Add to slightly beaten egg; stir in melted butter. Slowly add to flour mixture, stirring only until blended. Bake on a hot griddle, using 1/4 cup batter for each pancake. Serve with melted butter and unsulphured molasses, or any of the following toppings. YIELD: 12 pancakes.

Just Two Ingredients Make Candy Cups

REMEMBER when you were very, very good as a little girl, and you got your candy and dessert both at once? This is the grown-up edition of that happy childhood event. Little semi-sweet chocolate shells, just like chocolate candy, frame fluffy fillings, just like dessert. Right in the holiday spirit, you'll find this example of semi-sweet chocolate cookery one of your happiest short cuts to successful holiday refreshments.

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

YOU have both a positive and a negative reason for leading your partner's suit against a No Trump game contract. One is that opening it promises to help your own side. The other is that opening another suit may help the declarer in at least two ways. First, it may build an extra trick for him in the suit, which he otherwise might not get. Second, whether it does that or not, it sacrifices your own side's chance to get the jump on him with a round or your own suit and offers him the chance to get working on his first. To abandon all these advantages, a sound defender requires some very good reason for not leading his partner's suit.

Bidding was exactly like that at both tables of a team match, but one declarer made his contract and the other failed. The difference sprang entirely from the lead.

One West opened the ♠ of his partner's spades, the K winning. East calmly returned the 2, hoping to lead to the ♠.

ing South might hold up the ♠ for fear that the A would be in the West and top it. But the declarer soundly came in with that honor, then launched his clubs with the A and the J to the K. West also scored the spade 10 and led the 9 to the A. East's switch was to the heart 4, the J going on and the A producing the trick that beat the contract.

The other West, feeling that South was ready to stand a spade lead, went "smart" and opened the diamond 3. The 9 took that cheaply and South then launched his clubs before the defenders got started on their black suit. When the club K won the J, West led a spade, his 3. But it was much too late. East scored the K and A, but his 2 went to the Q and South added three more tricks each in the minor suits to have the nine he needed. This time the diamond lead made sure the J would be shut out and gave the declarer a head start on his own clubs before the hostile spades were launched.

Korean Lad Gets U. S. Education Thanks To Yanks

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 10 (AP)—

This story began back in 1950 in Korea when Bong Kee Kim, of Seoul hitchhiked a ride on a troop train carrying American soldiers.

The Korean lad—his friends call him Bong—was a 17-year-old trying to get from Pusan to Seoul. He didn't know the train was moving to the front.

Bong attached himself to Co. A of the 35th Regimental Combat Team, became its mascot and, in time, an unofficial interpreter.

Among the arrivals in Korea in 1952 was Lt. James K. Caldwell Jr., of Walton, Ky., who was assigned to the 35th.

The American lieutenant and the Korean houseboy-interpreter became good friends. Caldwell decided he'd try to send Bong to the United States to school.

The Kentuckian and his associates collected $2,500. There was a year and a half wait, though, to obtain clearance.

Caldwell's parents agreed to sponsor Bong and he arrived in Cincinnati last Dec. 7.

Bong will enter the University of Kentucky this semester to study engineering. His roommate will be Caldwell.

Gives Pointers For Proper Meat Storage

When you select meat at the market, it has been kept under the best possible conditions by the packer and the meat retailer. Naturally, you too want to keep it stored under the best conditions until you cook it.

As soon as you bring meat home from the market, unwrap it (don't wash it) and place it on a clean, dry plate or shallow dish. Leave it uncovered or cover it lightly by placing a piece of waxed paper loosely over the top. Immediately store it in the coldest part of your refrigerator. The reason for not closely covering meat stored in the refrigerator is that a little drying of the surface increases its keeping quality.

Cooked meats should be covered. The surface has been dried out during cooking and further drying in the refrigerator is undesirable. Modern commercially cured hams and bacon should be kept in the refrigerator. When preparing bacon, remove from the refrigerator only the amount desired at the time. If the whole package or container is allowed to stand at room temperature while the meal is prepared, moisture will condense on it and lessen the keeping qualities of the bacon.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

TONY REPETENSKY
THOMAS, W. Va.—Tony Repetensky, 76, a retired coal miner, died at 3 a. m. yesterday at the home of a nephew, Cleodius Corbin, of Table Rock, Md.

A native of Lithuania, Mr. Repetensky was born in November 1878 and was a son of the late Stanley and Agnes Repetensky. He was the last surviving member of his immediate family.

Mr. Repetensky was a member of Local 4113, United Mine Workers of America. The body is at the residence of his nephew where it will remain until Saturday when a requiem mass will be celebrated at 10 a. m. in St. Thomas Catholic Church here.

Rev. Father Daniel will officiate and interment will be in the parish cemetery.

JOHN T. STEVENS
John Thomas Stevens, 63, of 55 Offutt Street, died shortly after he was admitted to Memorial Hospital Wednesday night.

A former B&O employe, Mr. Stevens was born in Virginia. He held membership in First Prethren Church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ada (Malcolm) Stevens; five stepsons, Herbert and Alston Smith, Sykesville; Theodore Smith, Hewlett, Va.; James and Robert Smith, Baltimore; and three stepdaughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Richards, Morgantown; Mrs. Sylvia Richards, Carmichael, Pa.; and Mrs. Gertrude Usher, Baltimore.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home.

A service will be conducted at the funeral home tomorrow at 2 p. m. with Rev. L. O. McCartney-smith, pastor of First Brethren Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park. Pallbearers, all members of Lodge 656, BRC of A. will be Edgar S. Leasure, I. S. Hoyle, Jesse Dom, O. G. Zollner, Edgar Cole and V. G. Zollner.

ALBERT M. MELVIN
Rites for Albert Martin Melvin, 59, of Jessups, who died Saturday, were held Tuesday in Laurel.

His widow, the former Miss Francis Frey of Cumberland, survives.

MRS. B. F. STRAWDERMAN
MOOREFIELD — Mrs. Bernie Elizabeth Strawderman, 52, wife of Benjamin F. Strawderman, RD 2, Winchester, formerly of here, died Tuesday in Winchester Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient one week.

Born March 21, 1902, she was a daughter of the late John and Ellen (Whetzel) Helmick.

Surviving, besides her husband, are four daughters, Mrs. Wilbert Hartman, Purcellville, Va.; Mrs. Albert Cook and Mrs. Blaine Wratford, Fort Run, and Mrs. Omar Hardy, Kessel; two sons, Paul and Ray Strawderman, Laurel, Md.; two sisters, Mrs. Bayard Taylor, South Fork, and Mrs. Sadie Boswell, Moorefield, and three brothers, Benjamin Helmick, Moorefield; Charles Helmick, Rio, and Parran Helmick, Fort Run.

Rites will be conducted tomorrow morning from the Thrush Funeral Home here by Rev. Charles Combs. Burial will take place in Strawderman Cemetery, Mathias.

'Right-To-Work'

tee was organized last year, have contended the bill is aimed at destroying organized labor.

Earlier this week they distributed pamphlets containing essays by three clergymen—a Catholic priest, Jewish rabbi and Protestant minister—attacking such legislation as immoral.

Gov. McKeldin went on record in a speech last year as opposing similar bills, which have been adopted in 17 other states and are specifically authorized in the Taft-Hartley act.

Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3rd) introduced a resolution last Tuesday, urging that the House "condemn" this type of legislation even before it was introduced.

The bill was referred to the Senate Labor Committee, headed by Sen. DiDomenico (D-Balto 2nd), where requests for early hearings were expected.

As the Legislature prepared to begin hearings on the 268-million dollar budget proposals Gov. McKeldin submitted yesterday, it tried to clear the decks by disposing of as much local legislation as possible.

Adoption Bill Passes
Five such measures were enacted by the House, which also passed and sent to the Senate a bill aimed at baby-adoption racketeers.

An incidental provision of this bill, which would encourage the placing of children with adopting parents of the same religion, was the subject of considerable discussion in the House Judiciary Committee.

It was cleared, however, after the provision was changed to read that this should be done "wherever practical" instead of "wherever possible," and the House passed it 95-14.

More than 500 dairy farmers packed the House chamber and galleries this morning for a Judiciary Committee hearing on a bill to remove from Public Service Commission control milk shipments into Baltimore.

Harry T. Gross, counsel for the Maryland Milk Producers Cooperative told the committee the PSC schedule of rates and assignment of routes often meant it cost 5-20 cents more per hundredweight to ship milk into Baltimore than into Washington over the same distance.

Gross called it a "crazy-quilt pattern of rates."

The committee approved the bill and moved it to the House.

White Named Head Of Area Morticians

MRS. RAYMOND B. KUHS JR.
Mrs. Elinor Kuhns, wife of Master Sgt. Raymond Kuhns Jr., former residents, died in Honolulu where her husband has been serving with the Army.

Mrs. Kuhns was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leo Keech, city. The sergeant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Kuhns Sr., 309 Polk Street.

Survivors include three children. The body will arrive here tomorrow.

MITCHELL F. POLING
MOOREFIELD — Services for Mitchell Felix Poling, 75, who died Tuesday at his home in the Trough section north of here after a lingering illness, will be held today at 2:30 p. m. in Duffey Memorial Methodist Church. Rev. Paul Sutton will officiate with burial in Olivet Cemetery.

A retired farmer, Mr. Poling was born in Hardy County. His parents were the late M. F. and Elizabeth (Stickle) Poling.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Simmons; four daughters, Mrs. William J. Shobe, Capon Bridge; Mrs. L. L. Shanholtzer, Hagerstown; Mrs. J. Brooke Sherman and Mrs. Loring Sherman, Moorefield; seven sons, Harry M. Poling, Delphos, Ohio; Karl M. Poling, Seal Beach, Calif.; Frank W., Ray A., Lindsey L., Felix G. and Donald K. Poling, all of Moorefield; 17 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

KENNIS R. PFAB
Kenniss R. Pfab, 86, of 607 Greenway Avenue, died yesterday evening in Sacred Heart Hospital.

He had been in ill health for three weeks. A native of Virginia, he was born August 17, 1868 and was a son of the late John and Mary Pfab.

Mr. Pfab was a retired employe of the old N & G Taylor Tin Plate Mill. The body is at Scarpelli's Funeral Home.

Nicaragua is about the size of Michigan.

Pencils are marketed in 70 different colors.

Use Of State Coal Is Backed In Bill

A bill that would require all state departments to purchase Maryland-mined coal was introduced in the General Assembly yesterday by State Sen. Robert B. Kimble.

The Allegany County Republican has in the past introduced several bills such as the one yesterday, but all have met with defeat.

Most of the opposition was from Garrett County where there are a few mines with the pit mouth across the North Branch of the Potomac River in West Virginia. The coal from these mines was being taken from seams located in Maryland.

The Senate minority floor leader's latest bill clears up this feature by having it phrased to include all Maryland coal, regardless of where the pit mouth is located.

In such cases, the director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines must certify that it is Maryland coal and also the mine owner must certify under oath that it is coal from this state.

Four years ago, Governor McKeldin issued an executive order that directed all state departments and agencies to purchase Maryland-mined coal.

Sen. Kimble said the departments, except for ten carloads purchased by the University of Maryland in Somerset County, Pa., have adhered to this order.

The bill would place the University of Maryland under its provisions.

Within two years Afghanistan will have virtually eliminated malaria from the entire country.

Three Men Join US Army
Three men were enlisted this week in the US Army at the local recruiting station. Two of them were re-enlistments, James A. Hackett who is assigned to the Adjutant Generals Corps, and Charles H. Williams, 1012 Gay Street, who is assigned to the Quartermaster Corps.

LeRoy W. Stevey, RFD No. 1, Everett, Pa., enlisted for three years in the Ordnance Corps.

On The Birthday Of A Benefactor

Thomas Alva Edison, the one hundred and eighth anniversary of whose birth is today, would, no doubt, be surprised that the date is being increasingly observed year by year. Edison, one of mankind's greatest benefactors, did not strive for fame nor wealth. He struggled and toiled for the satisfaction he derived from accomplishment. Although the world's greatest inventor, he was a poor businessman, and that he left $40,000,000 when he died is proof that no one could have amassed less of the world's goods for achievements so vast.

Edison had no use for money as such. To him it was merely a means to greater experiments. He dressed poorly and ceremony annoyed him. When a delegation came from France to give him a medal, he was too busy in his laboratory to receive those who wished to pay tribute to his greatness.

Before he died in 1931, Edison saw the world illuminated by his electric light. The telephone had penetrated to the four corners of the earth largely because of a transmitter he developed. Hollywood was the outgrowth of his motion picture. The phonograph was his invention, and so were thousands of others.

A principle first observed and patented by Edison, known as the "Edison effect," has had a profound effect on radio, radar and television. It is the principle that the flow of electrons can be controlled by a metal filament in an incandescent lamp globe.

Profound of thought, Edison was simple and sincere in manner. Sometimes, at the insistent pressure of the press, he was induced to comment on matters that were outside his own preeminent province. But his heart was not in it. He was a doer. He peered into scientific realms where few could follow. Many more years must elapse before this bringer of light will take his rightful place among the great scientific discoverers of history.

Abraham Lincoln

As the years roll in the saga of America, Abraham Lincoln grows in stature not because he was assassinated, nor even because he was President during our Civil War, but because he was a philosopher, a moralist, a rare figure among those who rise in our political system.

The American president has usually been a politician, not a statesman; an operator of the techniques of manipulating the people's choice, not a thinker who leads his followers into the lofty realms of moral philosophy. Too often his speech has been of the earth rather than inspired by revelation. How many of them could have thought, much less put into rhetoric, the grandeur of the Second Inaugural:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Abraham Lincoln thought lyrically and his poetry was sunshine in a dark moment of national history. He required no ghost-writer. He was not briefed by researchers. He called no conferences to decide what he was to think and say. His artistry came from his consciousness, and to it, no man could add or detract. A man who could compose the "Gettysburg Address" on the back of an envelope while travelling on a railroad train is unusual among our politicians who generally submit their major thoughts to associates for criticism, the associates taking out of it everything that is of sufficient potency to produce controversy.

Lincoln was never afraid of controversy. In fact, he started his national career as a controversialist, debating the little giant, Stephen Douglas, no mean man. The Lincoln-Douglas debates stirred a generation by the deftness of logic, by the fullness of the knowledge of both debaters and by the courageous stance of each man on a public question. There was no pussy-footing in anything that Lincoln did and said, as the more popular Seward discovered to his discomfiture.

What a wonderful thing it would be in this age of television if two candidates for the presidency—say Eisenhower and Stevenson in 1952—could have debated the issues before the nation, face to face, with questions and answers and interpolations. Perhaps the nation might have discovered that the egg-heads are really behind the scenes. It might be like the speaker with "the perfect voice" who squeaks through a few paragraphs when the microphone has suddenly and for no just cause gone dead.

Lincoln lives for us not so much in deeds as in ideas. "I intend no modification of my oft-expressed personal wish that all men everywhere could be free." "What is conservatism? Is it not adherence to the old and tried, against the new and untried?" Replying to the South Carolina Commissioners, he said: "As President, I have no eyes but constitutional eyes; I cannot see you."

One can pick and choose nuggets of thought, wisely and literately spoken, courageously phrased with no idea of advantage. Such men do not often appear in any country; they have rarely appeared in ours since that magnificent group of philosophers sat in Independence Hall to adopt the Declaration of Independence and later to write the Constitution. Lincoln might have been of that galaxy had he been born earlier; he was of their succession. He was a sad man, as the philosopher must be. John Stuart Mill said, "Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so." Lincoln probably never asked himself such a question: He was born and reared in a world of contention and quarrel that ended in war and in his assassination.

Our people in these days pray for the inspiration of a national ideal. We live in a period of excitement, of action, of motion, but we are a sad people because we are not at peace with ourselves or with the world. We need the wisdom of a great mind and the leadership of one who walks with God. We again need the gentle hand of Abraham Lincoln who could be firm in the right without permitting himself the wickedness of hate.

Farewell To Arms?

U. S. Could Gain By Ending Russian Food Problem

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What a golden opportunity the spokesmen of the free world have missed in the last 24 hours! Instead of public expressions that fluctuate between fear over whether a "tougher" Soviet policy is in prospect or whether the road is open to more appeasement, the governmental leaders on this side of the Iron Curtain could well have drawn attention to the plight of the Soviet peoples and to measures that some day can bring their liberation.

For the whole world has been witness to the operations of a totalitarian regime which is worse than any of the despotic monarchies of the past. Quite incidentally—it arose out of a reminiscence by the President of a talk he had in 1945 with Marshal Khukov, the new Minister of Defense in the Moscow government—Mr. Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday how he had described to Khukov the operation of a free government. The President said:

"Now, I explained to him (Zhukov) how absolutely impossible it was for a democracy to organize a surprise aggression against anybody. Our processes are open. Every time you get money or you change anything in your military affairs, you go to Congress. It is debated. There is no possibility of a country such as ours producing a completely surprise attack on any other. And that is what I was emphasizing to him."

This very week, however, Malenkov was forced out by a little group of men who imposed a Premier without consulting the 200 million people of Soviet Russia.

Everybody knows that the main crisis inside the Soviet Union today is the lack of food production. Yet the United States has millions of bushels of grain and foodstuffs stored in warehouses, and this surplus could be an instrument of good will more powerful than words. It will be recalled that when the East German food riots were under way two years ago, President Eisenhower offered food packages. It was a master stroke in good relations with the people of Eastern Europe.

Today the United States, with an abundance of food, is able to help out the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite states, all of which are undernourished because of the restricted food supply. The people on the mainland of China desperately need rice, as their government at Peiping has been exporting this commodity so as to buy rubber from Ceylon.

If the United States offered the Soviet and Chinese people a chance to solve their agricultural problems with farm machinery and promised them, in the meantime, foodstuffs out of the surpluses available here, the way would be opened to the hearts of the tens of millions of persons behind the Iron Curtain.

For the road of peace lies in awakening the peoples in Soviet Russia and the satellite states to the fact that they need not remain enslaved indefinitely and that economic help will be forthcoming if they will only establish free governments which the rest of the world could trust. The billions of dollars now being spent in preparations for war could in large part be used to give a new life to the people of Soviet Russia and the

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Best example of a preventive war we know is when the tarantula jumped on the scorpion's back. End of quote.

Senator Wayne Morse of uptown Oregon fears the preventive capers can bring on a third world war. It has already brought on Senator Morse.

The lad from the Northwest has been spending most of his time in the Southeast. He is so homesick he picks his teeth with a weather vane.

Senator Knowland denies preventive inoculation could whip up a third world war. But concedes it might bring the second one back.

So it looks like we are tarred if we don't and feathered if we do.

Nobody consults me about these things and all I know is what you read. But it makes me wonder if, when and where, Senator Morse was married.

If he isn't married he's a bachelor. If he is married what did he say when the minister asked him the question? The senator must have been out-voted two to one.

Nobody can be so independent he can make omelets without eggs. When a proposition is adopted 409-3 you might figure the three would be like the old lady in the first carriage. She didn't agree with the late lamented but she went along for the ride.

The only thing more unanimous than 409-3 is the handling of a fat hog in the Chicago stockyards. They use everything but the squeal. Which is a short piccolo lesson.

We see no reason why Morse should be afraid of a third world war. He can be independent on that, too.

As a lifelong scoffer in railroad luncheons we can state 27 raisins to 2 flies isn't a bad score.

Many Remedies Available For Treating Amebiasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Amebiasis is named after a tiny ameba (Endameba histolytica) that lives in the intestinal tract of man. This "critter" belongs to a primitive class of organisms consisting of a single cell. The ameba's reproductive life is simple; it multiplies by division. One becomes two, two becomes four, and four becomes eight in no time. The organism usually enters the body in contaminated food or fluid. In passing through the stomach, its protective overcoat is lost and the parasite searches for a comfortable spot in the wall of the bowel to set up housekeeping.

Spontaneous cure of amebiasis is rare. In this respect, it differs from the more common types of diarrhea that subside within a reasonable period. This is one reason why treatment is suggested in amebic dysentery and, for this purpose, many good remedies are available. Most of the new products are antibiotics. Aureomycin has been of value but its thunder may be stolen by two newcomers: fumagillin and oxytetracycline. According to a recent report, the former is effective in 86 per cent and the latter, in 92 per cent. To my knowledge, these remedies are the most promising to date. Other amebicides include milibis, carbarsone, stovarsol, and the malaria killer, chloroquine. But some authorities still prefer the old reliable, diodoquin and emetine.

Diodoquin is the least toxic of the amebicides and the results are surprisingly good. Emetine is more dangerous but does an excellent job when severe dysentery exists. It also is of value when the

Each home site ultimately breaks down into a small ulcer. The resulting irritation leads to recurring attacks of diarrhea, gripping abdominal pain, nausea, and occasional vomiting.

Symptoms are not always so definite. Diarrhea often alternates with constipation or vague intestinal distress may be the only manifestation. These clues usually are neglected for a long time unless the individual becomes markedly fatigued, loses weight, or runs a slight fever.

Some victims of amebiasis act as carriers, not realizing they have the infection because they have no symptoms. This could pose a dangerous problem when the carrier is none too clean in his personal habits. Professional food handlers who harbor amebas are likely to contaminate the meals of thousands of people and spread the disease far and wide. Many states have laws requiring periodic stool examinations of all such workers.

Sudden Change In Russian Leadership Due To Much Unrest Inside Country

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Here is how the diplomats view Moscow's latest political turnover:

As far as the U.S.A. is concerned it's a two-way street. Nikita Khrushchev the new backstage dictator of Russia, is vigorously anti-American, much more belligerent than the placid, flabby Malenkov. But the reason for the turnover is serious unrest inside Russia. . . . Purges in various Soviet republics have not been headlined in the press but they've been important. Part of them were to weed out Marshal Beria's followers; part to stamp out unrest. . . . Malenkov's appeasement of the masses by giving them more food, more consumer goods, did not work. Unrest continued. Now Khrushchev will try sterner methods. He will gird for possible war, but more optimistic diplomats believe he can't possibly afford one.

Heart of the Soviet Problem Is Food—While the U.S.A. is teeming with surpluses, Russia faces probable shortages. The climax is expected in May when there may be starvation in some areas. . . . Whereas the U. S. now has only one-sixth of its population working as farmers, Russia has 50 per cent farming. Yet the U.S.A. produces far more than the USSR. . . . The reason is farm machinery, better weather, better drying conditions, better know-how, almost everything except better soil. It would be hard to beat the rich loam of the Russian Steppes. . . . It was Dictator Khrushchev who started the campaign to increase farm production. His idea was to lure young Russians into settling on virgin farm land, also to build up "agro cities"—in other words, collective farms centered around urbanized communities. . . . Khrushchev proposes using Henry Wallace's hybrid corn, American farm methods. He wants the USSR to increase its population from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000, but knows this is impossible unless Russia can raise more food. It was to increase the population that he imposed a heavy tax on bachelors and couples with few children. . . . Though Khrushchev initiated this program, Malenkov was officially in charge. It's been a failure. . . . First, Russia has lacked the tractors and farm machinery. Second, the Russian peasant lacks the know-how. He breaks up equipment, has no mechanical knack, seems to think farm machinery can run without oil.

Khrushchev Waves Flag — The new Russian backstage dictator has been so belligerent against the U.S.A. and the West that his remarks actually have been toned down by the Soviet press. Speaking at Prague June 15, 1954, Khrushchev quoted Lenin as saying: "As long as the capitalist encirclement lasts it will be very difficult and complicated to come to an agreement. . . . Then Khrushchev proceeded to go much further than Lenin, as follows: "One must be strong in order to coexist with the enemy. We have done everything possible. We have given to our country atomic energy. We have given it the atom bomb. We even were ahead of the capitalist class and created the hydrogen bomb before they did. We know that the Bourgeois politicians are irresponsible chatterers. They believe they can scare us, but nothing can frighten us because we know as well as they, what a bomb is. . . . But when the speech appeared in Pravda on June 16, 1954, it was watered down as follows: "In the beginning the enemies of disarmament and the enemies of ruling out A-weapons declared that the Soviet Union made such proposals only because she had neither the A-bomb nor the H-bomb. Now that we have the A-bomb and had even created the H-bomb before the others, we have submitted the proposal to make a solemn obligation not to use weapons of this kind—not because we are weak, but because we are really serious with our peace policy in the interests of the working masses."

U. S. Embassy Predicted—This time American officials were not caught as short as when Marshal Beria was purged. They knew upheaval was in the wind but didn't figure it would come quite so soon. Ambassador Bohlen had wired the State Department that Malenkov and Khrushchev were watching each other so closely that neither one would leave town. . . . One sign pointing to a change was a piece which appeared in the Banner, a Moscow magazine, in May 1954, referring to Malenkov as the "sparrow who could never learn to fly. . . . There were also changes in Russian magazines to rewrite history so as to give credit to Khrushchev for doing various things which he had absolutely nothing to do with. For instance, Russian history was rewritten to include him among those who reorganized the Red Army after the revolution of 1917 and who helped win World War II. Actually he had little to do with either, but Russian magazines carefully went out of their way to give him credit. . . . Premier Malenkov apparently was given his life in exchange for playing ball with Khrushchev. The Kremlin wanted to give the impression to the outside world that it had arranged an orderly transfer of authority. . . . The last purge created a bad impression.

Will Bulganin Last? — Marshal Bulganin has been a friend of Premier Malenkov's. That is one reason diplomats figure he won't last too long. They give him about six months. Then he can be made the scapegoat just as Malenkov is the scapegoat today. . . . Bulganin got his training as a political commissar attached to the Red army. While he is close to the army, he is not a military man. . . . Chief danger to the United States is that the new dictators will use the bogeyman of the U.S.A. to divert attention from unrest inside Russia. Khrushchev needs unity at home and the best way to get it would be by insulting the U. S. over China and Formosa. . . . The Red army also has some new fighting equipment that it would like to try out. So there is definite danger that Russia might permit Communist China to push the Formosan crisis up to the point of limited war. . . . Diplomats believe the Kremlin doesn't want full-scale war but would be delighted to have another Korea whereby the Chinese can lose their manpower and bear the brunt of the fighting. The Russians want them to try out the new equipment and watch the U.S.A. win more ill will in Asia.

Meaning Of Khrushchev

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON. The ruling faction in the Kremlin has concluded that even a partial settlement with the West is out of the question; and that war is probable if not inevitable. Soviet policy is henceforth to be based on these grim assumptions.

This is the majority view of those best qualified to interpret the meaning of the events surrounding the downfall of Georgi M. Malenkov. There is all sorts of evidence to support this interpretation.

In the first place, there is the nature of the difference between Malenkov and N. S. Khrushchev. Their well-advertised disagreement about the degree of emphasis on arms production has been only a symptom of a more basic difference—whether war with the West or "co-existence," and a long period of stalemate, is more probable.

There is no doubt where each has stood on this question. There was, for example, the extremely belligerent speech which Khrushchev made in Prague, in June last year. When this speech was published in the Soviet press, much of its belligerent tone was carefully edited out—this at a time, of course, when Malenkov was in the ascendancy.

There's "Always Hope"

Or there was the conversation not too long ago between Malenkov, Khrushchev, and the Moscow diplomatic representative of one of the neutral powers. Khrushchev announced in his blunt way that if the Paris agreement to rearm Germany were ratified, then "there was nothing more to be done." The clear implication was that there was no hope of avoiding war if West Germany were rearmed. But Malenkov hastily interposed that there was always hope, that "there was always something to be done," to avoid war.

This is not to suggest that Malenkov was in any sense a pacifist idealist or a friend of the West. The difference is one of emphasis. But this difference could be crucial. How crucial is suggested by the decision sharply to increase arms spending, announced some days before Malenkov's downfall was made public, but when Khrushchev was certainly already in the driver's seat.

This decision is compared by the experts to Josef Stalin's decision to rearm at all costs after Munich—it is a sign that the Kremlin now, as then, expects war. Similarly, Molotov's tough speech after Malenkov's resignation is compared to Stalin's speech immediately after the end of the war, in which Stalin clearly foreshadowed the "hard" policy towards the Soviet Union's war-time allies.

For what consolation it may be worth, this switch to a "hard" policy based on the expectation of war comes as no great surprise to the American government. As noted in this space early last January: "When Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen returned to Moscow recently, he reported back that the sense of tension had measurably increased there in the few days since he had left."

Thereafter, Bohlen reported that the "sense of tension" derived from a power struggle which was centered on a basic policy disagreement; and that Khrushchev, the proponent of a tough policy, appeared to be winning this struggle. The evidence suggests that the power struggle began to come to a head in the late autumn, soon after Khrushchev returned from his trip to Communist China.

Chinese Ready For Risk

This trip, it is believed, convinced Khrushchev that the Chinese Communists were prepared to take major risks of war. On his return, he took the position that the Soviet Union had no alternative but to support China if it came to a showdown, and that the Russian arms industry must therefore be greatly expanded at all costs.

Khrushchev had been fighting for more arms production and a tougher policy even before he left, of course, but the beginnings of the China crisis strengthened his hand. So did the German rearmament pact. The army finally sided with Khrushchev, it is believed, and the issue was actually settled in his favor in late December or early January.

The triumph of Khrushchev does not mean that the Kremlin is getting ready to start a world war tomorrow. On the contrary, there is solid evidence that, even since Khrushchev became the real power in the Kremlin, Moscow has tried to restrain Peking from going too far in the Formosa crisis. Bohlen and other experts are still convinced that the Kremlin does not want a war.

Yet all-out rearmament, and a "hard" policy based on the assumption that war is probable, obviously in itself increases the danger of war. According to one experienced policy-maker, what has happened in Moscow has multiplied the risk of world war by a factor of about four. In the circumstances it is strange—but true—that there is apparently no disposition whatsoever in the administration to have a hard new look at the state of our own defenses.

Security Council President Favors U. N. Simplification

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 10 (AP)—Victor Andrews Belaunde, Peruvian diplomat and current president of the U.N. Security Council, believes the U.N. should be streamlined and simplified. He took the council helm Feb. 1 under monthly rotation of the post in accord with the English alphabetical listing of the 11 members. A member of the founding conference at San Francisco in 1945, he has been head of the Peruvian delegation to every U.N. General Assembly since the second part of the third Assembly in 1949.

"I favor simplification of the U.N. system and methods to avoid overlapping of subject and work," Belaunde told a reporter. "I am convinced the U.N. has a future. It must arrange its work so as to avoid congestion in too many meetings—and the veto must be abolished."

Long a champion of the rights of the Indians, known as the Quechua (Keshwa) people, in Peru, Belaunde succeeded in writing into Peruvian constitution in 1933 a provision guaranteeing them property rights. He has carried that view-point into international diplomacy and is always vocal when he believes the rights of the common man or of the small nation are being imperiled.

Belaunde entered the field of international relations in 1903 when he took up boundary problems which plagued Peru for years. He is happy that at last the boundary situation is settled.

Born in Arequipa, Peru, in 1883, Belaunde was educated at the National University of Arequipa and the Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos, Lima. In 1911 he was named charge d'affaires to Germany, to Bolivia in 1915 and minister to Uruguay in 1919. From 1920 to 1927 he was delegate to the University of Lima to the universities of the United States—at Middlebury, Williams, Columbia and the University of Miami.

In 1932-33 Belaunde helped draft Peru's constitution. In 1936 he was minister to Switzerland and delegate to the League of Nations. In 1943 he was adviser and sponsor of the league's Committee on Foreign Affairs.

He has represented his country at all of the inter-American conferences in recent years and has written several books on philosophy, law and history.

For relaxation, he turns to reading. He is keenly interested in history and prefers to turn in early at night and wake up about 3 a.m. for a couple hours of solid reading.

Delegate Kessel Vill Address Keyser PTA

Teacher-Legislator To Report On Bills

KEYSER — Joseph W. Kessel, member of the W. Va. House of Delegates, will speak at the regular meeting of Keyser Parent-Teacher association, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, Keyser High School gymnasium. Kessel, a member of the high school faculty, is active, in behalf of school legislation before the legislature, and will talk on the purpose of the proposed legislation. He is expected to tell the parents and teachers how the various bills are progressing, and what the prospects are for their passage, as well as when to expect final action to be taken in the two houses.

Parker C. Black, principal of the local high school will interview Kessel on state school legislation and Owen Schaeffer, member of the faculty and officer of the teachers' association, will assist in interviewing the speaker on school matters.

The subject matter and progress of the legislature is expected to be of importance to parents and teachers alike.

W. E. Michael, of the faculty of Potomac State college and president of the PTA, will conduct the meeting.

Two W. Va. Escapees Captured In Georgia

CHARLESTON — Two of four convicts who escaped from a work detail at Weston State Hospital have been captured in Brunswick, Ga., where an auto stolen from Frederick County was recovered at the same time.

Another car stolen in the escape was found previously in Oakland. Nabbed were James Shears, 21, Mt. Claire, W. Va., and Thurman Maynard, 23, Omar, W. Va. Both were serving one to ten years for grand larceny.

A fellow-escapee, Paul James Huffman, 21, Walton, W. Va., was picked up earlier near Charleston. Still at large is David W. Mason, 24, of Beckley, who was serving two to ten years for forgery.

Authorities said the four first fled in the car of R. B. Barbrow, maintenance superintendent of the hospital. Later Shears and Maynard reportedly took the car of Robert W. Smelser Jr., at Green Springs, Va.

Mrs. Smelser reported there were three men in the auto.

W. Va. Revokes Eight Licenses

Beer Commissioner Suspends Two Others

CHARLESTON, Feb. 10 — Beer Commissioner Burton Crow announced today the revocation of eight beer licenses in West Virginia and the suspension of two others, all effective at midnight, Saturday.

Suspended until July 1 was the license of Audrey V. Smith, doing business as Elk Lunch at Gassaway, on a charge of abandonment of license. A 30-day suspension was handed Joseph Slay, trading as The Bowers in Wheeling, on a charge of permitting disorderly conduct.

Crow ordered these revocations, listed with charges, after hearings last week.

Myrtle Tucker, Riverside Inn, St. Albans; possession, permitting consumption of and sale of alcoholic liquor; sale of beer between midnight and 7 a. m.; permitting operation of juke box between midnight and 7 a. m.; sale of beer to intoxicated persons.

Mingo County Veterans Club, Williamson; possession and sale of liquor; loud, boisterous and disorderly conduct.

Stanton C. Young, Stan's Place, 1037 Bigley Ave., Charleston; conviction of being intoxicated; conviction of sale of whiskey; drinking liquor in a public place.

Thornton Hicks, The Curve, Marmet; possession and sale of liquor; disorderly conduct.

Fraternal Order of Eagles, Buckhannon; sale and possession of liquor.

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Buckhannon; possession of liquor.

Buckhannon Moose Lodge No. 598, Buckhannon; possession and sale of liquor.

Helen Eldora Wood, Helen's Fun Spot, Wheeling; possession of liquor; loud, boisterous and disorderly conduct.

Coal Mine Mishaps Are Top Killer In W. Va. Industries

CHARLESTON, Feb. 10 — Fifteen of 19 deaths reported to the Workmen's Compensation Department in January as a result of industrial mishaps were in the coal fields, a report showed today.

The total fatalities compared with an equal number, including 13 in the coal industry, in December and 13, with nine attributed to coal mining, in January of 1954.

Other reported January deaths this year included one death in sawmills and logging; state and county departments; State Road Commission; and oil and gas.

Frostburg Golf Course Sponsors

In the center above, is James Harrison, Turtle Creek, Pa., widely known golf course architect, surrounded by a group of golf enthusiasts at Firemens Hall, Frostburg. At the right of Harrison is the president of Maplehurst Country Club, Fred Dean. Sponsors of the new golf course at Frostburg, standing from left to right are Mrs. E. Burnett Van Fossen, Walter R. Anthony, Dr. William Powers, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Zembower, Charles Pinto and Mrs. William Day. In addition to the group shown, the meeting was attended by approximately 75 persons who heard Mr. Harrison express his views as to the feasibility of building a 9-hole course on the 120 acres now known as the Maplehurst Farm near Grahams town. Among the many recommendations that Harrison made was the construction of two ponds with a capacity of 40 million gallons of water. He said the water could be obtained from a well drilled on the property and the cost of excavating for the ponds would not be excessive. He also stated that the contour of the land was ideal for a 9-hole course and eventually for an 18-hole course. He said the surface seemed to be well fertilized and was in very little need of replanting. William Pritchard, publicity chairman of the association, reported that Harrison made a good impression on those attending the meeting and he stated that nearly $25,000 in pledges and cash has been received. Additional sale of stock shares is expected to result from letters recently sent out by the group. The meeting Wednesday evening was open to the public and was attended by residents of Cumberland and surrounding towns of the Georges Creek Region, also Grantsville and Salisbury, Pa. Interest in the proposal appears to be growing steadily, sponsors claim.

Dr. J. D. MacLeod Talks At Scouts Annual Dinner

New Creek District Troops Assemble

KEYSER — Rev. Dr. John D. MacLeod, Jr., pastor of Keyser Presbyterian Church, delivered an inspirational address to New Creek District Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorer Scouts at the annual banquet in the dining room at the Keyser Moose Home on East Street last night. The ceremonies were opened with invocation, led by John Fraser and Robert Klinsinger, Pack 39, followed by the Scout oath conducted by Lawrence McDonald, Troop 39, and the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Jack Canfield, Troop 27, and R. E. Simpson, Troop 37, quoted the Scout law.

The dinner followed the opening ceremonies, during which time, group singing was conducted by Chester J. Compton, with Mrs. Katharine Church, at the piano, followed by David G. Nuzum, calling the session together and introduction of several guests. Sgt. Phillip Beall, with the cooperation of his assistant, Master James Saum, performed feats of magic. The Scout Court of Honor was called and awards were given under the direction of Lester McDowell, commissioner; Dr. Paul Giffin, advancement commissioner; and Chester Bishoff, leadership training commissioner. Awards in Cub Scouting were made by Oren Brown.

"Boys Life" was the subject for David G. Nuzum in a talk to the Scouts and was followed by Scout benediction by Chester Bishoff.

Troops participating in the annual banquet were:

Troop 27, sponsored by Keyser Rotary Club, Joseph M. Stanislawczyk, scoutmaster.

Troop 37, sponsored by Keyser Presbyterian Church, James T. Handlan, Jr., scoutmaster, and Robert Whitlatch, assistant scoutmaster.

Troop 39, sponsored by Grace Methodist Church, Marshall Hixenbaugh, scoutmaster.

Troop 40, Elk Garden, sponsored by Knights of Pythias, Jasper Morris, scoutmaster.

Troop 53, sponsored by Keyser Church of the Brethren, Emil Liller, scoutmaster, and Donald Judy, assistant scoutmaster.

Explorer Scout Post 39, sponsored by Grace Methodist Church, Arden Kolkhorst, Explorer advisor.

Cub Pack 39, sponsored by Grace Methodist Church, Oren Brown, Cubmaster.

Cub Pack 38, sponsored by McCool Parent-Teacher Association, Cubmasters Melvin McBee and Edwin Baldwin.

Roberta S. Grove, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Grove, Lincoln Avenue, was selected as Meyersdale Joint High School's Maple Queen contestant Friday from a field of 12 participants in a talent show.

Miss Grove, who executed an original soft shoe dance on the local stage, will present the same number to the tune of "Tea for Two", accompanied by Chester Miller, at the Queen contest Wednesday. Miss Grove, known to her friends as "Bobby", says her main hobbies are dancing, swimming, playing the piano and taking part in Girls' basketball games.

Planning to enter nurses' training at Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh this summer after graduation, the young lady has held an interest in caring for the sick since early youth.

At school the blue-eyed, light brown-haired girl is very active in scholastic organizations. She takes part in the Quill and Scroll society for journalism students, is co-editor of the yearbook, and is a member of the band, Science, History and Girls' Phys. Ed. clubs.

She sings in the chorus and girls' ensemble and is a member of the National Honor Society. She is also a member of the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Miss Grove is five feet, five and one-half inches tall and weighs 127 pounds. Her measurements are: bust, 35 inches; waist, 25 inches and hips, 36 inches.

She is a member of the Amity Evangelical and Reformed Church in Meyersdale.

A young lady who stands exactly five feet tall will be Conemaugh Township High School's Maple Queen contestant.

Miss Nancy Ann Greninger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis J. Greninger, Davidsville, will play

"Lady of Spain", arranged by Ethel Smith, on an electric organ as her talent number during the contest.

The 17-year-old Conemaugh Township senior has gained a great deal of experience in organ accompaniment since the Seventh Grade by playing for many different groups and for district and county musical festivals.

Miss Greninger has light brown hair and eyes and is very active in extra-curricular organizations in high school. Her interest in instrumental music extends to participation in the band and orchestra.

By singing in the choir and Junior and Senior chorus she continues to further her knowledge of musical tones, tempos and expression.

She also serves as scribe of the Thespians and held the office of secretary of the sophomore class. She is a member of the student council and Y-Teens.

Miss Greninger, who weighs 105 pounds, has the following measurements: bust, 33 inches; waist, 24 inches and hips, 35½ inches.

After high school graduation this spring she plans to attend Pennsylvania State University, possibly to continue her study of music.

Her main hobby at home is music with her remaining leisure hours taken up with reading and watching TV. She is a member of St. David's Lutheran Church in Davidsville.

Miss Vivian Roberta Cornell, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cornell, Boswell, was voted the girl with the best personality of the Jenner-Boswell-Jennerstown Joint High School Senior Class and will represent JBJ at the Maple Queen contest.

The hazel-eyed, olive-complexioned young lady will compete with a host of other beautiful senior girls from Somerset County high schools for the title of Queen Maple VIII to reign over the annual festival to be held in Meyersdale March 25-27.

Miss Cornell is president of the Senior Class at JBJ and is active in journalism organizations. She is a member of the annual staff and the Eagle staff, school newspaper.

Her main interests as hobbies are dancing and ice-skating, both of which develop co-ordination and poise. She intends to continue her studies after graduation but has not decided on a college as yet.

The academic Senior has aspirations of being a model after her high school days are completed and will probably attend a college which features courses in speaking, walking and dress.

Miss Cornell is 5 ft. 3½ in. tall and weighs 105 pounds. Her measurements are: bust 32 in; waist, 22 in. and hips, 34 inches.

She intends to deliver a vocal number as her specific talent at the Maple Queen contest in Cochran Junior High School.

The lovely young girl, who is looking forward to attending the Maple Festival, will come as a princess, maid-of-honor, or the Queen, a decision to be made at Johnstown by the judges.

Many lovely gifts and a scholarship await the girl chosen as Queen Maple VIII and Vivian will have an opportunity to acquire them.

A selection of musical numbers will be played on an electric organ by Patricia Twardzik as her talent number in the Maple Queen Contest when she represents Shade Township High School in the contest Wednesday, in Johnstown.

The blue-eyed commercial senior student is active in school organizations, serving as assistant editor

Frostburg Teachers Post 12th Win, Beat Shepherd, 97-85

Bobcats Score Fifth Straight, Avenge Defeat

Marple, Bob Kirk, Wilson Top Attack; Shearer Makes 30

FROSTBURG, Feb. 10 — Frostburg State Teachers College avenged its first defeat of the 1954-55 basketball campaign tonight by whipping the Shepherd College Rams on the local court by the score of 97-85.

Shepherd had beaten the Bobcats on December 1 by the score of 76-62.

In posting their fifth straight victory, Coach Kenneth Babcock's aggregation chalked up the 12th win of the season against only four setbacks.

Baskets by Bobby Wilson and Dave Marple gave Frostburg a 4-0 lead at the start of the game and Shepherd never caught the Bobcats. The home team held a 44-33 lead at intermission and was out in front by 19 points, 82-63, at one time in the second half.

Dave Marple and Bobby Wilson led the Bobcats' 33-goal assault with 10 and 8 baskets. Marple romped off with high scoring laurels with 22 points and Bob Kirk with 9 out of 10 at the foul line and Wilson took runner-up honors with 17 markers each.

Shepherd's chief scorer was Center Shearer who dumped in 30 points on nine baskets and 12-13 at the free throw mark. Milich contributed 22 tallies for the losing cause. Bill Turner excelled with his floorwork for the Shepherdstown quint.

Bruce May, former Hyndman High star, who led the point scorers in the tri-state area last season, has enrolled for the second semester and made his debut with the Bobcats tonight in the role of substitute forward.

Rosburg Sets Pace In Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 10 (AP)—Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, left a sick bed today to shoot his best golf of the year and share the lead at the end of the first round of the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Rosburg came in late in the afternoon with a 65 to tie Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill. Both were five under par for the 6,409-yard El Rio golf and country club layout.

George Bayer, Glen Head, L.I., and Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Calif., shared third place with 66's. Both credited accurate putting for their sub-par rounds.

Rosburg, 28, had been in bed with the flu since he arrived earlier this week.

Duke Will Battle Three Bowl Winners

DURHAM, N.C., Feb. 10 (AP)—Duke, winner of last month's Orange Bowl football game, will meet the winners of this year's three other major bowl games next season.

A 10-game schedule announced today shows road games with Ohio State, Rose Bowl champion; Navy, the Sugar Bowl winner, and Georgia Tech, Cotton Bowl victor.

Parsons High Wins No. 13

Buckhannon-Upshur Is Defeated, 68-48

PARSONS, W. Va., Feb. 10 — Parsons High School's Panthers racked up their 13th victory in 15 starts by whipping the cagers of Buckhannon-Upshur High School to the tune of 68-48 on the local floor.

Jim Bowley and Terry Fairbanks collected 13 of the Panthers' 23 field goals. Fairbanks was high scorer with 1 points, Bowley garnered 18 and Bill Rosenau had 11. Chandler, forward, chalked up 16 points and Ruhlow, guard, had ten for the visitors.

Buckhannon-Upshur scored only one point in the third period. Root of the visiting team fouled out in the second quarter and Bennett followed him in the final stanza.

BOSTON, Feb. 10 (INS)—Ted Williams was reported tonight to have decided to return to baseball this year and will make his plans public in about 10 days.

Word that the Red Sox slugger has shelved the ideas of retiring was contained in a copyrighted article in the Boston Daily Record.

Fight Is Approved

CINCINNATI, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Cincinnati Boxing and Wrestling Commission today approved the matching of Sugar Ray Robinson, former world's middleweight champion, and Johnny Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., for a 10-round boxing bout here March 15.

The fight is subject to receipt of signed contracts from the managers and boxers.

SPORT SLANTS

Baker, Nicol Score "Canine Centenarians" "Happy" Davis Dies A Story By "Rosey"

By C. V. BURNS

TWO BOXERS who chowed their wares here as amateurs appeared on Wednesday night's telecast out of Baltimore and both registered quick knockouts.

Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh heavy flattened Willie James of Roxbury, Mass., in the second round after the New Englander had belted him around rather freely in the opening stanza.

Baker appeared in Bobby Greene's amateur show here Nov. 8, 1948, and belted out Willie Walker in one minute and 57 seconds of the opening round. At that time the Pittsburgh negro scaled 203 pounds and Walker, who was substituting for Ed Knepp, of Lewistown, Pa., tipped the beam at 184.

As a result of the Baker-James scrap ending so abruptly, the IBC put on an emergency four-rounder featuring Paul Nicol, of Washington, and Johnny Brown, of Baltimore. Nicol made a punching bag out of Brown in the second round and the referee stopped the match.

Local fans will recall that Nicol boxed here twice as an amateur seven years ago. He decided to Earl Smith, local bantam, in a show promoted by "Diddy" Stutcher, Jan. 19, 1948, and a month later he gained the nod over Smith again in a 5-round thriller on a card promoted for the Amvets by "Sparky" Chisholm.

Nicol's father is employed in the government printing office, Washington, and is a close friend of Albert Fletcher, linotype operator on the Times-News. When Paul boxed here he and his dad visited the Fletchers.

The Amvets show in which Nicol appeared here drew 1,158 paying patrons. Wednesday's show in Baltimore attracted 918.

JEFFERSON Grover "Happy" Davis, 69, one of the best known owner-trainers on the Maryland half milers, died in a Martinsburg (W. Va.) hospital last Friday. Funeral services were held in Charles Town Tuesday and interment was at Bel Air, Md.

Local racing fans will remember Davis and his faithful route, Happy, which ran over the Fairgo strip many times in recent years. Rusty Pots was another one of Davis' horses that won a good many purses.

In recent years Davis trained the horses owned by Mrs. Mary Howell, of Cumberland, namely, Vincibelle, Route Four and One Finger.

Perhaps the most publicized horse that Davis trained was Annie Dream, one-time champion of the Maryland half milers and winner of several races at Fairgo. Davis had been an owner and trainer about 35 years. His son, Herbert, is a well known assistant starter on the Maryland mile tracks and at present holds that role at Sunshine Park in Florida. "Happy" was a native of Bel Air.

IN CONNECTION with a projected scientific study that may mean much to the greater well-being of dogs, the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, is carrying on a search for "canine centenarians."

To qualify as a "canine centenarian" a dog must be 17 years of age, according to the Center. Seventeen years in the life of a dog is believed to be roughly equivalent to 100 in a human.

Persons owning or knowing of dogs 17 years old and over, whose exact age can be substantiated, should drop a postcard to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, New York, listing the breed, sex, date of birth or when acquired, present age, and the name and address of owner. The Center will acknowledge each such card by forwarding a questionnaire designed to ascertain the essential vital data required for the scientific study.

"Tippy," owned by Jack Towler, of Allegany Hotel Inn, was nearing 17 when she died in August. Jack recalled that he paid a newsboy 30 cents for the animal which proved to be a faithful watchdog for many years. I own a 15-year-old dog named "Elmer" after "Where's Elmer?" — a phrase that was made famous at American Legion conventions of bygone days.

Beall Boosters Honor Gridders, Soccer Players

200 Attend Dinner, Sherman Is Speaker

FROSTBURG, Feb. 10—Trophies were presented to members of the football and soccer teams and gifts were given to the coaches of the grid, soccer and cage teams at the second annual dinner of the Beall High School Boosters Club held tonight at Salem Reformed Church.

Players of the Week trophies were presented by J. Ray Hull, head football coach, to Tom Emmart, Dallas Chaney, John Hansel, Robert Wolford, Andy Felker, James Sigler, Glenn Blank, James Kergan and Mike Passarell. Two trophies went to Wolford and Passarell for being cited twice during the grid campaign.

C. R. Richardson, president of the Beall Boosters Club, presented gifts to Finzel and Hull and Frank Munson, assistant football coach, and Tom Hutcheson, assistant basketball mentor.

Approximately 200 attended the annual affair at which Bill Criswell, of Radio Station WCUM, Cumberland, was toastmaster.

Eugene "Bo" Sherman, head football coach at George Washington University, was the guest speaker. He told his audience that he was indebted to Beall High for sending one of its best all-around boys to G.W.U. in the person of Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, who starred as an end on the Colonials' eleven. The speaker predicted a bright future for Thompson.

Sherman stressed five points in speaking of "what the university is looking for in boys." They are: 1. Boys must be intelligent. 2. Boys must have competitive spirit. 3. A boy must have a desire to improve himself. 4. He must be able to get along with other people. 5. He must have physical ability.

Short talks were given by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany county schools; Wayne W. Hill, Beall principal; William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners; Coaches Finzel, Hull, Munson and Hutcheson, and Paul "Bubbles" Thompson. Also introduced were Mayor Perry Myers and Commissioners John Hendley and Franklin Martens.

The meal was prepared and served by the ladies of Salem Reformed Church Supper Club. Rev. John Bayley Jones gave the invocation and Rev. George L. Wehler pronounced the benediction. Coach Sherman showed movies of the George Washington-Pennsylvania grid contest to conclude the program.

Cresaptown Plans Baseball Meeting

A meeting of the Cresaptown Baseball Organization will be held tonight at 6:30 at the Cresaptown Fire Hall for the purpose of appointing managers and discussing plans for the 1955 season.

The organization sponsors two Little League teams and one Pony League club.

Clingerman's Wins

Clingerman's scored a 3-0 victory over Cresaptown Firemen last night in the Allegany County Ladies Shuffleboard League. Virginia Huff scored 28 points to pace the winners while Myrtle Hill led Cresaptown with 15 tallies.

Two upsets marked play in the Catholic Youth Basketball League last night when St. Patrick's of Cumberland cracked the 5-game winning streak of the first place St. Michael's quint on SS. Peter and Paul court, 41-35, and St. Peter's of Westernport, spilled the runner-up SS. Peter and Paul aggregation on the Bruce High School floor by the score of 58-41.

Despite last night's setback, St. Michael's held to first place with a 5-1 record but St. Patrick's tied SS. Peter and Paul for the runner-up spot, each team having won four and lost two.

St. Mary's handed St. Patrick's of Mt. Savage their 6th straight setback of the second half race by the score of 29-16 on St. Mary's court.

High scorers in last night's games were Mickey Scaletta, St. Patrick's 16; Jack Bahen, St. Michael's 13; Jim Ternent, St. Peter's, 25; Cumiskey, SS. Peter and Paul 15; R. Saliga, St. Mary's 10; Lennox, Mt. Savage 8. The lineups:

Triple Tie For W.M.I. League Leadership Possible Tonight

Valley Plays Campers, Beall At Fort Hill

Keyser At Ridgeley For Big One; LaSalle To Invade Hyndman

All roads lead to Campobello tonight. That's the scene of the crucial battle between Valley High's Black Knights and the Allegany High Campers and it's a do-or-die game as far as Coach Walter L. Bowers' team is concerned.

Triple Tie Possible

Valley leads the W.M.I. League with a 6-1 record while Allegany and Beall are tied for the runnerup spot with 5-2 marks. All teams in the circuit have only three more games on their schedule. Valley could tighten its grip on first place by beating the Campers and the loss would just about put the defending champions out of the running. An Allegany win, however, coupled with a Beall victory at Fort Hill would throw the race into a triple tie for first place.

Coach John Meyers' Knights beat the Campers on January 14 at Lonaconing by the score of 58-53.

If both Valley and Beall pull out victories tonight their meeting at Lonaconing next Tuesday will likely decide the championship.

Beall Copped Opener

Beall High holds a 61-52 decision over Fort Hill and the downtrodden Sentinels would like nothing better than a win over "Ebbie" Finzel's Mounties tonight. Third W.M.I. League game brings together Mt. Savage and Bruce in Westernport. The Indians won the series opener on their home court, 69-64.

Boasting a winning streak of seven games, LaSalle goes to Hyndman tonight to tangle with Hyndman High School's Hornets who have bagged 15 of 20 games played to date. The Explorers won the first game here, 68-45, and will be angling for their 15th win in 15 outings.

Coach Crawford's Carver

High cagers hope to get back on the winning track when they wind up their two-game series with Sanders of Moorefield on the Carver court. The Frederick Street quint won the first game of the set by the score of 65-56.

Keyser at Ridgeley

Ridgeley will be shooting for its 12th straight triumph when it plays host to Keyser High's Golden Tornado. The Blackhawk's knocked off KHS on January 11 by the score of 63-60 and could sew up the P.V.C. title by winning two of its remaining three games. After the Keyser tilt, the Ridgeleyites play at Elk Garden, February 15, and at Moorefield, February 18 to complete a 14-game schedule in the West Virginia circuit. Moorefield holds second place with a 12-2 record and plays three more P.V.C. opponents but the Yellow Jackets can't claim any more wins in the conference. Under a ruling adopted several years ago, the championship race is determined on a maximum of 14 games. After a team reaches 14 only the losses count in the official standings. That's why tonight's game with Keyser is one of the most important of the campaign for Ridgeley. In other P.V.C. action Petersburg is at Piedmont, Fort Ashby at Elk Garden and Wardensville at Matias.

Other games include:

Southern at Northern, Parsons at Thomas, Davis at Tygarts Valley (Mill Creek), Paw Paw at Capon Bridge and Weirton at Howard, Piedmont.

Potomac State winds up a two-day road trip at Concord College.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 10 (INS) — My good friend Harry Joe Brown couldn't have chosen a better time to tell the world that he and his partner, Randy Scott, will produce a great American epic, "Liberty or Death." When I tell you that this project is based on our Declaration of Independence — and intimately tells the stories of the vital and important Americans who signed it — you'll know what I mean.

With the explosive situation in the East what it is, it's time all Americans be reassured about the beginning of our great country and what it stands for.

Says Harry Joe, "Casey Robinson is writing the script for us and we are after such stars as Frederick March, Charles Laughton and Tyrone Power to play Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington and Benjamin Franklin."

"I'm not married to Erich Maria Remarque," Paulette Goddard told me over the long distance phone, "but I'm considering it," she laughed. Paulette came to New York from Switzerland to appear in "The Women" on TV.

"I'm heading right back to St. Moritz where Erich is," she went on. "I'll stay one week there and then go on to Paris, where I start 'Angel Puss,' a French motion picture."

"What a title!" I said. "It will be called 'Angel Face' when it's released in this country," Paulette explained, "I play an adventuress."

She said she won't be back in Hollywood until September because she doesn't want to leave the boy-friend.

I asked if she had seen her ex, Charlie Chaplin. She said, "Oh, no — he lives on another mountain in Switzerland."

I pinned Kirk Douglas down when I met him and his attractive bride, Anne Buydens, to ask him what he's going to do about the Van Gogh story.

"I'm going to make it for MGM," he said. "They own Irving Stone's 'Lust for Life,' and when they found I had planned to do the life of the eccentric painter for my own company, they asked me to do the Stone story. I think the book is great, so I am glad to forget my own idea."

Kirk is leaving in a few days to carry the banner for "The Man Without a Star," for Universal-International.

Socially speaking: Television and electronics greatly interested the Mervyn Leroy's dinner guests, especially Louis B. Mayer, Jack Warner, Sam Goldwyn and Walt Disney. They had quite a discussion with Robert D. Michaels, head of Television-Electronics Fund, and Paul Just, sales manager.

The girls certainly got out their best bib and tucker, and Kitty LeRoy's daughter, Mrs. David May, was gorgeous in a ruby color gown with beautiful ruby jewelry given her by her in-laws, the Tom Mays.

Mrs. Disney was in red, too, a most becoming lace gown. Lorena Mayer (Mrs. L. B.) wore a stunning emerald green gown. There were many long dresses, and Joan Cohn's (Mrs. Harry) Paris creation of black and light blue jersey was most effective. Mrs. Michaels and her hostess both wore formals.

In the dressing room the girls all got together and talked careers, clothes and other girl talk. Greer Garson said she was trying to make up her mind about TV.

Among the other guests were the Clarence Browns, the Kenneth Haddens (he's president of the New Westwood Bank), the Jack Boltons and the Morgan Mares.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The romance of Marla English and Bud Pennell may lead to the altar.

Luis Dominguez had a date with Linda Christian Power the night the sheriff's office was looking for her to serve the subpoena.

Stewart Granger has put his foot down on having Edmund Purdom in "Bhowani Junction" after he read some of the Hollywood stuff Purdom is supposed to have given British newspapers.

Veronique Passani, Gregory Peck's blonde girl friend, told a London newspaperman that she'll visit Hollywood in about a month. That isn't what Greg said.

Danny Thomas' book is called "From Nightclub to Knighthood." He was recently made a Knight of Malta.

Sonja Henie and Liberace were at the Mocambo and again at the Cocoanut Grove last night.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Church Agency Working To Help Former Convicts

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—The heavy gates swing open, and a lean, chalky-faced man steps outside the 30-foot walls. He squints as he gazes about at the unfamiliar distances.

Will people let bygones be bygones, and give him a chance to stay straight? His hand trembles as he lights a cigarette.

A new nationwide church agency sparked by recent rumblings of violence behind prison walls and troubles of ex-convicts on the outside, today is going to work to see they get that chance.

"We want to help bring an end to the hopelessness that drives these men to desperate deeds," said Robert B. Hannum, veteran penologist and chairman of the new church commission.

Set up by the 30-denomination National Council of Churches, the commission is mapping action in two areas that may run or restore an offender—the treatment he gets in prison, and after he is released.

"The public is in a mental Siberia so far as knowing anything about some of our old prison stink-pots," Hannum said. "And there's little concern about the hideous discrimination these men face once they're out."

"They go to church, and hear about forgiveness up front, but they soon find out that this comes later — and only the Lord gives it."

"Many could be good citizens, but they're so thwarted and slapped down, it's no wonder the lid blows and they go out and do some other foolish thing."

The church commission is made up of clergymen, sociologists and such noted criminologists as Austin MacCormick, of the University of Southern California, and Robert Wright, of the American Correctional Assn.

"We are going to look for causes, as well as remedies," said the Rev. Paul L. Tilden, commission member and a director of the national council's Department of Pastoral Services. The commission will seek:

1. To ease some of the barriers and rebuffs that confront a released prisoner, no matter how good his intentions, and which often drive him in despair back to more crime.

2. To make people aware that the way prisons are run is their business—that systems of "oppression and retribution" often turn prisoners into more embittered, dangerous enemies of society than before.

"Somehow, we're going to find a way to jerk 40 million parishoners right out of their pews and make them aware that this is their baby," Hannum said. "They can't avoid it. They bought it."

In addition to studies of penal policies in this country and abroad, and putting findings before prison officials, the commission hopes to stimulate nationwide church activities to befriend ex-prisoners.

This may involve "big-brother" programs by which individual church members lend guidance to classified "good risk" parolees and probationers—those who are not psychopaths, alcoholics or narcotic addicts.

"It would mean seeing them through their parole period, advising them, helping them get a job and reestablished in society," the Rev. M. Tilden said.

The number of youthful offenders has risen sharply. A million had brushes with the law last year; 450,000 cases went to court. Altogether, 200,000 men women juveniles were in, or went to prison for terms averaging 2½ years. This doesn't count the hundreds of thousands who served time in local jails.

Said Hannum: "Sometimes it seems the public would like to have these men kept in prison garb the rest of their lives, and marked by law as ex-convicts."

And yet, Hannum asked, where is the man who "can honestly say he has never done anything during his entire lifetime for which he could have been convicted of a crime? Think that one over."

The look of spring fashions is longer — and flattering, if you are wise in your choice.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Fashion writers are drawing on words unheard for several seasons to describe the silhouette favored for spring. They term it elongated, attenuated, columnar. Certainly each characterizes the longer look carried out in styles my own experts consider trend-setting.

These include the narrow sheath with dropped waistline; the bloused dress or suit with low-placed belt; the longer suit jacket; the over-blower with skirt slim, flaring or pleated; the soft semi-chemise dress. In all these, the feeling is one of ease. Spring fashions avoid the "plastered" look, especially around the waist and midriff.

Best For You

To decide which elements of the longer look will do most for you personally, send for "What's Your Line?" (see below). Jot down your decisions as to line. Correlate them with your current wardrobe by color, perhaps a pale gray flannel suit, if your spring coat offers bright contrast; or a lean yellow coat to top basics of the staple shades.

Still shopping on paper, select the hat and accessories that will complete each costume. Only after these preliminary studies are you ever ready to match fashions with dollars and cents. Consider the following, keyed to the longer silhouette.

Shallow Bretons, deep or profile cloches, bloused turbans, and berets to continue the lean line to the top of the figure. Tapered shoes, to carry the same slimmness to the toe. Costume-color stockings that melt into rather than divide the silhouette.

Big Business Epic

"Patterns," an original TV drama by Rod Serling, was presented originally on Kraft Theater (NBC-TV 9 p. m. EST Wednesday) on January 12 and was repeated last Wednesday night, same time, same station, by popular acclaim. "Patterns" was a real sleeper. It arrived unheralded and unsung and won virtually unanimous praise from critics and public. John H. Platt, vice president in charge of advertising for Kraft, says: "This precedent-setting repeat is against our policy but we have always been fully sensitive to the desires and viewing pleasures of our audiences. It was their overwhelming and unanimous response in the form of letters, phone calls and wires, applauding our efforts, that inspired this step. We have received ten times as much mail from viewers in this case as we normally get."

"Patterns" is the story of big business, great big business conducted on the highest level, of what it demands of men and what it does to them. I have no idea how accurate a picture this is of our business tycoons but, if this is what business is like I'm glad I'm not in it.

As a TV drama, it was one of those rare, almost unique, combinations of fine writing, excellent acting and an amazingly taut and workmanlike job of directing and production (both the handwork of Fielder Cook who was director and producer). In fact, one of the chief charms of this play was its picture values which resembled those of the better movies. This is an unusual thing to find in a live TV drama which, after all, hasn't the benefit of the endless retakes and the cutting room floor of the movies. This is one of those rare shows in which everything worked out exactly right—and in live television that is not only a matter of skill but of great good luck. "Patterns" opens with the very opening of a business day in Ramsey & Company and there are some perfectly wonderful shots of the elevators (and some revealing discussion about who gets admitted to the executive elevators and who doesn't) and of the untended switchboard. Gradually, like a slightly malevolent beast, Ramsey & Company comes alive with its advance guard of scurrying secretaries and its later phalanx of big shot executives.

Then we meet the head of the company, Mr. Ramsey, a rockhard dynamo of a man, (superbly played by Everett Sloane); his new boy wonder, Fred Staples (powerfully played by Richard Kiley) and the aging executive Andy (almost perfectly played by Ed Begley) who is on the skids. Almost immediately there is a contest of wills and—above all—of ethics between Kiley and Sloane. Kiley, while unquestionably able, is unwilling to succeed at the expense of his friend Begley. Sloane, the very embodiment of a soulless corporation, thinks human values have no place in business.

That sounds like a debate—but it isn't. Somehow, Mr. Cook has caught the mood and atmosphere and the tensions of big business so that Ramsey & Company seems to come alive and have a personality all of its own. Some of the relentless drive and bone-crushing pressures of big business—if big business actually operates this way—come across until you, the viewer, almost get an ulcer along with Begley.

Big business as it is practiced on the upper echelons seems to be occupying a lot of our creative minds these days. "Patterns" reminds you strongly of MGM's fine movie "Executive Suite." J. P. Marquand's latest novel "Sincerely, Willis Wade," at which I have had an advance peek, is working the same side of the street—big business and what it does to human beings. It's a great big subject, and I daresay we'll see a lot more of it.

Tails of fat-tailed sheep weigh up to 35 pounds and yield a fat prized in making pastry. In times of drought, fat stored in the tails serves as a reserve supply of nourishment for the animals.

Republicans Plan Lincoln Day Dinner Feb. 25

Nebraska Senator Will Be Speaker

United States Senator Rowan L. Hruska of Nebraska will be the principal speaker at the annual Lincoln Day dinner, which the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee will present Friday, February 25, at Centre Street Methodist Church.

A member of the committee confirmed last night that Senator Hruska had accepted an invitation to come here two weeks from tonight to address the Republicans of Allegany County.

In the last session of Congress, the Nebraskan was in the House of Representatives. He was elected to the Senate last November 2 after death in 1954 had taken both of his state's senators, Hugh Butler and Dwight Griswold.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde of this district also has assured the committee that he will be here for the GOP rally.

Tickets for the Lincoln Day dinner will be distributed today under the direction of Edgar M. Lewis, vice chairman of the State Central Committee. All committee members and officers of Republican clubs around the county will have tickets.

Members of the State Central Committee include James S. Getty, Lonaconing, chairman; Lewis, this city, vice chairman; Samuel M. Berry of Westernport, George F. S. Jeffrey of Lonaconing, David J. Williams of Midland, Francis D. Miller of Shaft, Thomas Elias of Frostburg and Victor M. Hebb of this city.

The committee emphasized that tickets should be obtained as early as possible because no more than 300 persons can be served at the social hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Robert Brown To Be President Of Local Chest

Robert W. Brown, superintendent of personnel at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, last night was elected president of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Other officers, named at a meeting of the Board of Directors, will be Simon Rosenbaum II, vice president; Herbert C. Heineman, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, secretary.

Elected to the Executive Committee were the officers and Coy F. Dyer, Homer S. Higgins, A. Earl Johnson, Woodward D. Pealer and Dr. Benedict Skitarellic.

The Board accepted January reports of all Red Feather agencies here, and the month's financial report.

The statement showed a cash balance of $41,325.79 on December 31, with $3,147.30 receipts from 1954-55 pledges during the month for total cash of $44,473.09.

Disbursements totaled $7,268.53, leaving a balance of $37,204.56 on February 1.

Total receipts from 1954-55 pledges totaled $60,625.96, or 60 per cent of all pledges.

Easier Access To News Sought By Editors

BALTIMORE, Feb. 10 (AP)—A group of editors heading a campaign for easier access to the news made plans today to take their story to legal, medical and labor groups in Maryland.

The Freedom of Information Committee of the Chesapeake Assn. of the Associated Press agreed to seek opportunities for newsmen to appear before the other groups at annual conventions and meetings.

The committee previously has sponsored a series of clinics at which representatives of government, the courts, law enforcement officers, hospitals, business concerns and military installations studied cases where access to news had been blocked.

The Maryland Press Assn. two years ago obtained passage by the Maryland General Assembly of a law which requires meetings of city councils, boards of county commissioners, and the various boards and commissions of the State government to be held in public.

The committee was formed to promote the idea that the public has a right to full information about the operations of its governments and its public servants, that "public business is the public's business."

Its members represent newspaper and radio and television stations in Maryland, the District of Columbia, and nearby areas of Delaware and Pennsylvania.

Participating in today's committee meeting besides Morris were Eugene T. Gunning, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland Times; Paul Broderick, city editor, and James P. Bready of the Baltimore Evening Sun; and Norman Harrington, editor-manager of the Eastern Star-Democrat and president of the Maryland Press Association. Broderick is vice chairman of the committee.

Their meeting was one of the preliminaries to the annual convention of the Maryland Press Assn., which starts Friday morning. Editors and publishers of the Chesapeake AP papers will hold their annual meeting Friday afternoon.

About 175 newspaper representatives are expected for the convention sessions, which will continue through Saturday afternoon.

On the MPA's Friday program are the annual reports of its officers and an advisory committee to the School of Journalism at the University of Maryland.

Five newsmen will participate in a discussion of newspapers' attitudes toward reporting radio and television appearances by political candidates.

C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press correspondent at the Pentagon in Washington and formerly stationed in the southwest Pacific, will be Friday's luncheon speaker.

The afternoon MPA program includes a discussion of editorial writing by Brooks Cottle, editor of the Morgantown, W. Va., Post; a talk by Shirley Ewing, Maryland's civil defense director, and a report on the handling of crime news by Lee McCordell, assistant managing editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun.

U. S. Sen. M. M. Neely of West Virginia will be the banquet speaker Friday night.

Three Judges To Hear Suit On Expressway

City's Demurrer Will Be Tried

Offices in the Court House will be closed tomorrow in observance of the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln but there still will be plenty of activity in Circuit Court where four attorneys will argue the demurrer in the Cumberland cross-town expressway dispute before three of the four judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Chief Judge George Henderson will be joined on the bench by the two recently-appointed judges, making their first appearance in the court here. They are Associate Judge David Kenneth McLaughlin of Washington County and Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County. They are both former state senators who were appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris is out of town.

The action before them is an equity suit which was filed last August 9 by W. Wallace McKaig, local industrialist. He asked in that suit that the court declare illegal and void the action that day of the Mayor and City Council in entering into an agreement with the State Roads Commission whereby the cross-town viaduct will be built providing the city pays $490,000 in seven $70,000 installments and does certain other things.

McKaig, represented by two former city attorneys, W. Earle Cobey and Charles Z. Heskett, also asks that the city be enjoined from carrying out its obligations under the agreement.

The Mayor and City Council, through City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and Attorney William A. Gunter, who is assisting him in this case, has filed a demurrer to McKaig's bill of complaint. The argument tomorrow will concern the city's demurrer.

Under terms of the agreement the city is to make available from gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue or from any other available source the $490,000.

In his bill of complaint McKaig observed that for the current fiscal year the city has appropriated $1,505,270 of which $1,262,848.47 is for current city operations and $242,421.53 for debt service. He asserts that the agreement with the SRC relates to construction of capital improvement whose aggregate cost is more than four per cent of the appropriation. Because this capital expenditure was not approved by a vote of all five on council, nor by a bond issue, the city's action in authorizing the expressway contract was illegal and void, McKaig's attorneys contend.

May Exceed $12,000,000

Furthermore, the complainant says, the cost of the project may exceed $12,000,000, the contract is vague and indefinite and the city's action in making vague and indefinite contract is not reasonable exercise of its powers.

In their demurrer, Finan and Gunter contend that McKaig as a taxpayer will not be affected as the city's obligations are confined to funds from gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue or from any other legally available source.

They further assert that the limiting sections of the city charter do not limit the power of the Mayor and City Council to enter into contract and meet its obligations thereunder by funds to be received gratuitously from the state.

They add that the contract does not pledge the credit of the city but is only a limited promise and does not require the city to pay anything illegally if the gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue funds are not sufficient. They also say that the contract is not vague and indefinite and is advantageous to Cumberland.

Brotherhoods Urge Pay Raise For Teachers

Endorse Request For $500 Boost

Baltimore and Ohio Local Federation No. 7, which represents all the railroad brotherhoods in this section, has taken formal action endorsing the $500 across-the-board salary increase requested by Allegany County public school teachers. In a letter to the Allegany County Commissioners, over the signature of Kenneth R. Alderton, secretary of the Federation, the railroad men go a step further than the teachers. They urge that the pay raise be granted immediately.

In part, the letter states, "We feel that the proposed increase which was recommended by the Board of Education is very unsatisfactory and is insufficient. The starting salary for teachers in Allegany County is now $2,700 and a $300 increase would make a total of only $3,000, which would keep the teaching profession one of the lowest of pay scales for teachers in the state of Maryland."

"Even an increase of $500," the letter continues, "would only total $3,200, which is not the wages paid the lowest of employees for the Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland railroads."

"We must take into consideration that the teachers must graduate from four years of college to prepare for this profession, and this is very expensive."

"For the welfare of the community, we cannot allow our best teachers to leave the vicinity for better wages in an adjoining county or other part of the state. Our county must grow and keep in step with other counties of the state, not lag behind by offering a much lower pay scale than other parts of the state. The teachers of the children in the community are preparing the future citizens of this county. If we wish to obtain the best in education for the children of the county, we must be willing to pay the teachers a substantial salary for this instruction, and do everything possible for the providing of this education."

"We feel that the $300 recommended by the Board of Education is not sufficient, and propose a minimum increase of $500 immediately for them, not a long term increase."

The announcement was made at the college yesterday.

Rep. Hyde Asks Quotas Set On Oil Imports

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde this week introduced a bill in the House of Representatives designed to limit the amount of oil products which may be imported into the United States.

The proposal, HR 3671, would amend the Trade Agreements Extension Act of July 1, 1954, so as to assure the availability of materials essential to national security.

It would extend the authority of the President to enter into trade agreements under Section 350 of the 1930 tariff act by adding a new subsection.

The bill would limit the crude petroleum and petroleum products which may be imported into the United States ports but excluding oil for manufacture and export in any quarter of a year to 10 per cent of the total domestic petroleum demand for the same quarter of the previous year, and the amount of residual fuel oil imported for domestic consumption in any quarter to 10 per cent of the domestic demand for residual fuel oil for the same quarter of the previous year.

It further provides that quotas may be suspended by the President when he finds fuel supplies are inadequate to meet current national consumption.

'Right-To-Work' Bill Introduced In Md. Senate

Labor Committee To Study Measure

By LOU PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 10 (AP)—A bill to outlaw the union shop in Maryland was introduced in the Senate today, bringing into the open a behind-the-scenes fight which had been waged in Statehouse corridors for weeks.

Sen. Weinroth (D-Cecil), attorney and freshman member of the Legislature, sponsored the measure.

It would make illegal any labor-management contract or agreement under which an employee would be required to join a union as a condition of continued employment.

Many existing agreements provide for a union shop, whereby a new employee must join within a certain time—usually 30 days—the union recognized as the collective bargaining agent for him and his fellow employees.

One Difference Noted

The bill, as introduced by Weinroth, differed in one major respect from a model bill suggested by an organization known as the "Maryland Right-to-Work Committee."

Weinroth refused to go along with a provision which would make it illegal for an employer to deduct union dues from an employee's paycheck and forward them to the union.

Edward P. Colwill, Baltimore contractor and head of the committee, described it as a organization of business, professional and farm groups and individuals.

"This bill is directed solely toward one purpose: To make it illegal to require anyone to join a labor union in order to get or to keep a job," Colwill said in a statement issued shortly after Weinroth introduced the measure.

Colwill called it an attempt to "outlaw compulsory unionism."

"It is presented because persons in our state are being denied their right to work because they refuse to join certain labor organizations," he said. He did not identify the organizations.

Racketeering Recalled

"Others have been forced out of their jobs because they dropped out of a union whose activities they disapproved of," Colwill added.

"In some cases, men who have worked in jobs as long as 35 years have been dismissed because they did not bow to the compulsion of the majority union."

"Situations like these, we feel, should not be allowed in the free state of Maryland. We are convinced that the only way for such abuses to be eliminated is to pass the kind of bill that we are presenting."

Colwill mentioned "a rising tide of corruption, bribery, perjury and other crimes charged against the union leadership."

"As recently as January, a congressional committee passed on to the Department of Justice information involving allegations of bribery and perjury by certain union leaders in our own state," he said.

"A right-to-work law will necessarily lead to give better leadership to unions. The leadership will be directly and democratically responsible to the union membership."

"The leaders will have facing them constantly the fact that if they do not conduct themselves in the interest of their members, the members will discontinue their affiliation."

Weather

Bright sunshine which drove the thermometer up to the 61 degree mark made yesterday as nice a day as anyone could ask in February. The overnight low here was 27 degrees and it was 51 at 7:30 p. m. Relative humidity at 6 p. m. was a pleasantly dry 35 per cent. The weatherman promises cloudy skies with occasional rain this morning. The mercury is expected to drop somewhat tonight and occasional rain is expected to turn to snow.

Car Bids Are Asked

The City of Cumberland will open bids February 28 at 10 a. m. on one six-cylinder two-door sedan, with heater and defroster, for the Health Department. The bids must include a trade-in allowance for a 1948 sedan.

Electoral College Campaign Of AHS Students Is Endorsed

The Citizenship Class of Allegany High School, which is advocating the abolishment of the Electoral College system of choosing Presidents of the United States, has embarked upon an ambitious and aggressive campaign designed to attract national attention.

Given the green light and a whole-hearted endorsement by Dr. Joseph M. Murphy, director of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the Allegany students are probing every avenue of approach to the question.

What they propose is the direct election of presidents, by popular vote, rather than through the present electoral system.

"Yours is the most startling project I've known to be taken up by the school press," wrote Dr. Murphy in a letter to the class. He endorsed their project to abolish the Electoral College and pledged the support of the association.

With this backing, the class will have access to 3,000 member schools throughout the country.

Appearing in the March issues of the "Bulletin" of the CSPS and of the "School Press Review," both national publications, will be articles describing the work of these students and their accomplishments. Pictures of the pupils' activities will accompany the stories.

A panel of six students presented the program yesterday to the Daughters of the American Revolution. They also appeared before Roy Lester's history class Tuesday. Other engagements have been made for the coming month. They have been assisted in developing arguments for both sides of the question by W. Earle Cobey, William L. Wilson, and William C. Walsh.

Betty Joan Beck and Patricia McGill, members of the letter writing committee, have written to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.
